WILSON'S REMARK UNWISE—IKE

Atomic Buildup Needed

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today that A-bomb and H-bomb production is swelling at a rate that necessitates multimillion-dollar expansion of its farflung weapons plant.

It also reported "new design principles"—stemming from last year's H-bomb tests—"which will lead to more efficient weapons that can be more effectively employed."

This apparently means the once outsize hydrogen weapon has been tailored to missiles and bombs for a variety of military uses other than mere destruction of cities.

The commission also claimed "a notable advance" toward nuclear propulsion of aircraft. For the first time, it said, a turbojet plane engine was powered with atomic heat in a ground test.

These were highlights of the AEC's 21st semiannual report in which it said "significant progress" was made in the last six months toward fufillment of President Eisenhower's international atoms for peace program.

As a special feature the commission published a five-chapter report on "radiation safety" in the U.S. atomic project Although 331 persons have received "overexposures" in the past 13 years, the project nevertheless has hung up a safety record "without parallel in industrial history," the AEC said.

"Radiation Incidents"

Of the 331 persons, 290 received their overexposures from the big H-bomb shot in the Pacific on March 1, 1954. The other 41, two of whom died in 1945, received theirs in "radiation incidents" at atomic installations in the United States. In this country no member of the public has been hurt by radiation.

And 99.4 per cent of the nearly 200,000 workers in the project have received an exposure averaging "less than one-third the amount of radiation allowed by strict safety standards."

The commission said its own experimental program to develop economical atomic power made "satisfactory progress" in the past six months. It said the number of planned atomic power plants to be financed entirely by private in-

Reorganization of Chamber Tomorrow

The Monessen Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual reorganization meeting tomorrow noon at Johnson's Restaurant.

Offices to be voted on are president, vice-president, treasurer, assistant treasurer and executive manager.

Carl R. Chaverin is chairman of the nominating committee, assisted by John Kotch, Jr. and Rinard Woods.

County Dairymen Seek Injunction Against Pickets

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—A group of Westmoreland County dairymen has decided to seek a court injunction against picketing by AFL-CIO members at dairy farms in the county.

The group met Tuesday night and voted unanimously to work with the Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Assn., Pittsburgh, in efforts to get a restraining order.

Recent picketing at county farms is part of an organizing drive by the Milk Producers, Handlers and Producer Distributors, an affiliate of the Teamsters Union. No violence has occurred.

State police patrols have been accompanying milk trucks on their runs as a result of appeals by farmers for protection.

Clarence Wilson, Harrisburg, secretary of the Pennsylvania Farmers Assn., and Charles N. Shoaf, West Newton RD 1, PFA director, spoke at Tuesday night's meeting, which was attended by about 25 dairy farmers.

The PFA has aided county farmers in obtaining police protection.

Young Woman Leaves Trail of Seven Husbands

DAYTON, Ohio (UP) — An attractive 23-year-old blonde who left a trail of seven husbands today told police "it was hard to find a guy I could trust."

Det. Sgt. J. H. Pickard said Mrs. Cynthia Delores Corraditti was arrested Tuesday after a dispute between husbands No. 6 and No. 7.

She is being held on suspicion of bigamy and defrauding the government.

Pickard said husband No. 6, Eugene Fultz, 24, surprised Mrs. Corraditti in Fultz's trailer with husband No. 7, Ray Morris, 22, when Fultz returned home unexpectedly from college.

"What are you doing here with my wife," Fultz demanded. "What do you mean your wife," Morris replied, "this is my wife."

The three then decided to take the mixup to police to straighten out.

Pickard said the last two marriages are bigamist marriages.

He also said Mrs. Corraditti received an allotment check from Fultz while he was in the Navy in 1955.

Mrs. Corraditti is now legally married to Benny Corraditti, 27. She married him in Folkston, Ga., in 1953, the detective said, and she received allotment checks from him from a Florida Air Force base.

The woman said she married four times between the ages of 13 and 18 and was "looking for a guy who would stand by me regardless of my past."

Confirm Turnpike Member

HARRISBURG (UP)—Merritt A. Williamson, newly-appointed member of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, takes over his duties today while Commission Chairman G. Franklin McSorley and Commissioner James F. Torrance prepare to leave their posts, at least temporarily.

The 41-year-old dean of the Engineering College at Pennsylvania State University was confirmed in the $13,000 a year job by the state Senate late Tuesday. A Republican, he had been nominated by Gov. George M. Leader to fill the vacancy created by the death of David E. Watson, Philadelphia, last year.

Leader's suspension of McSorley and Torrance, which is to become effective at the close of business today, would have left the five-member commission without the three-man quorum necessary to conduct turnpike affairs. The other members are state Highway Secretary Joseph J. Lawler, by virtue of his office, and former state Sen. John F. Byrne, of Philadelphia, who received an interim appointment to the agency last May, and whose nomination is still awaiting Senate action.

Praises McSorley

Lawler and Byrne are Democrats.

The suspension of McSorley, Pittsburgh Democrat, and Torrance, a Republican holdover from Export, was the result of their indictment by a Dauphin County grand jury last week in an investigation of the Turnpike Commission's operations.

Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington) said in a speech on the Senate floor that McSorley no longer desires the turnpike job but he wants his name cleared first.

Lane said McSorley told him he would not resign under fire but he wants no more part of state government. The legislator praised McSorley's "honesty, loyalty and integrity" and said the impend-

County Purchases Voting Machines

Westmoreland County has purchased 60 more voting machines, it was announced today by the County Commissioners.

Total price for the machines, which were bought from Automatic Voting Machine Corp. of Jamestown, N. Y., is $86,220. Unit price is $1.437.

The machines will be installed in Jeannette, Greensburg and Lower Burrell Township municipalities which approved installation at the November, 1956 election.

Four annual payments on the machines with three per cent interest will be made by the commissioners. Payment will begin Oct. 15, 1957.

Traditional Bills Are Introduced In State House

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House has received legislation to amend the Pennsylvania Constitution and set up four year terms instead of two for state representatives.

Berks County Republican Reps. LeRoy A. Weidned and Richard L. Adams introduced the joint resolution Tuesday. Presently only state senators are elected to four year terms in the General Assembly.

Horse racing bills made their perennial debuts. Reps. James J. Dougherty and Joseph A. McGee, both Philadelphia Democrats, sponsored a bill to have the voteds ballot on whether they favor horse racing with legal betting in the state. Results of the vote, to be held during the fall elections, would be turned over to the Assembly for enabling legislation.

Disabled war veterans would receive special tax relief under a proposal sponsored by Rep. Joshua Eilberg (D-Philadelphia). The joint resolution would exclude all blind, paraplegic and double and quadruple amputee veterans from paying state personal or property taxes.

Another proposal would consolidate the state police and the highway patrol into one body called the state police force. The measure also calls for increasing the state police strength from 1,900 to 2,500.

Tito May Cancel Visit to Washington

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP) —The Communist Party newspaper Borba strongly hinted today President Tito will cancel his planned visit to Washington because of anti-Yugoslav sentiment in the United States.

A special article written by Borba's foreign political editor, Joze Smole, took particular notice of reports the United States planned to slip Tito in and out of Washington while Congress was in recess so he would not have to address the lawmakers.

Nine Dead, 50 Hurt In Tanker Explosion

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UP)— Welders' torches may have touched off petroleum fumes aboard the oil tanker S. S. Jeanny, causing a series of explosions and a fire that killed nine men and injured nearly 50, a spokesman for Todd Shipyards said today.

Overflow Crowd at Check Store Opening

A crowd estimated at over 3,000 attended the formal opening of the newly remodeled John G. Check Furniture Store at 431 Donner avenue last ngiht.

Because many persons were unable to enter the store from 7 to 10 p. m. due to the overflow crowd, John G. Check, Jr., announced today the "open house" celebration will continue the rest of the week.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente presided at the ribbon-cutting ceremonies to formally open the redecorated store.

The thousands who visited the store saw a complete new front, featuring coral-toned panels and aluminum-faced display windows.

Air-Conditioning

Once inside, they saw the completely redecorated interior and wall-to-wall carpeting on the main floor.

The entire store has been air-conditioned.

The entire sixth floor, part of which was formerly used as storage space, is now selling space, giving the store six floors for furniture display.

The Check store, one of the oldest retail businesses in Monessen, was founded 42 years ago by John C. Check, Sr., who has been retired for the past 20 years.

Associated with John Check, Jr., in store management are Stephen J. Sterbak, assistant manager, and Mrs. Margaret Check Sterbak and Eleanore Check.

Souvenirs were given to last night's visitors, who also registered for the 42 free prizes to be given away in connection with the opening.

P&LE Income for December in Drop

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Co. today reported an estimated net income for December, 1956, of $1,410,207 or $1.63 per share as compared to $1,320,622 or $1.53 per share for the same month in 1955.

For the twelve months of 1956, the estimated net income is reported at $9,902,131 or $11.47 per share. This compares with $11,805,027 or $13.67 earnings per share for the same period in 1955.

Nunco Battista, of 1221 McMahon avenue, reported to police that someone took two hubcaps from his car while it was parked in the downtown parking plaza yesterday.

Talks Continue In Linde Air Products Strike

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —Union and management negotiators met with federal mediators again today in an effort to end a six-day strike at the Linde Air Products Division of the Union Carbide and Carbon Co., producers of oxygen vital to the steel industry and the Atomic Energy Commission.

(The Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co. is losing production of ingot steel because of curtailment of oxygen resulting from the Linde strike.)

The work stoppage began last week when 130 employes at the Essington plant near here rejected a one-year contract offer which included a 12-cent hourly wage increase and other benefits estimated to total 20 cents per hour.

The union sought a 20-cent hourly wage boost and other benefits including union security in a package estimated to total 25 cents an hour.

Despite the strike, both the company and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union agreed to continue supplying hospitals with liquid oxygen. The oxygen also is vital to the production of steel and is used in large quantities at atomic energy plants in Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky.

The walkout at Essington also idled Union Carbide's plants at Kittanning, Pa., and Tonawanda, N. Y.

Says Secretary Mistaken About National Guard

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today that Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's "draft-dodging" statement about the National Guard was very unwise.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that the men who joined the National Guard certainly could not have been slackers when they entered the Guard under proper provisions of law.

He said he did not believe that Wilson wanted to damage the National Guard, but he thought his secretary of defense certainly made a very unwise statement without stopping to think.

Wilson told a House armed services subcommittee Monday that the National Guard was a "sort of scandal" during the Korean War; that some young men were using it as a "draft-dodging business."

Wilson stuck to his charge Tuesday after a conference with Mr. Eisenhower. Wilson told reporters his language may have been tough but that it was an accurate account of the situation.

Defends Saud Conference

Other highlights at the President's meeting with reporters today.

1. He strongly defended his conferences here with King Saud of Saudi Arabia and the possible visit of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia to this country. He said he deplores any discourtesy shown to visitors who came here as representatives of governments and in an effort to ameliorate difficulties. This was a reference to New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner's snub to Saud Tuesday.

2. He said he would not run again even if Congress changed the 22nd Amendment which limits a president to two terms in office.

3. He was unrestrained in his praise of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. As for Democratic charges that Dulles' actions in the past had contributed to Middle dent said vehemently that Dulles never had taken any action that he had not approved in advance.

4. He said that Democratic critics of administration foreign policy—those who talked about great blunders—had failed to his knowledge to submit proposals of what should have been done in the Middle East, even with the benefit of hindsight. He said generalized attacks were easy to make.

Mr. Eisenhower's discussion of Wilson's remarks about the National Guard largely supported the defense secretary's position that the National Guard needs a more rigorous of basic military training. But he openly quarrelled with Wilson's choice of language.

His discussion of Wilson began with a simple question:

"Do you share Secretary Wil-

Parking Meter Is Damaged by Truck

A parking meter on Schoonmaker avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets was damaged when struck by a truck driven by John Mallchen, of Pittsburgh, yesterday, police said today.

Mallchen, who stated he will pay for the damages, said the rear bumper caught the meter as he was maneuvering in a parking space.

$39,000 in Hays Bank Funds and Gunmen Sought

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Police and FBI agents worked around-the-clock today in an effort to hunt down four gunmen who held up the Hays branch of Peoples First National Bank & Trust Co. and fled with $39,000.

The bandits, wearing pancake makeup and false mustaches, entered the bank about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. They herded four employes and a customer into the vault.

The gunmen scooped all the money they could find into a wastebasket, but they missed a box containing $50,000 which the bank had on hand to cash pay checks of workers at a nearby mill.

The robbers fled in an automobile, possibly driven by a fifth man, after threatening to lock in the vault the bank employes, the customer who was in the bank when the men entered, and another customer who came in during the holdup.

Branch Manager Thomas Schofield pleaded with the gunmen not to lock the vault because "there an old time safety lock on the door and God only knows when we will get out." He also told the robbers there was insufficient air in the vault, although it is ventilated.

The ruse worked and the vault door was left unlocked. Police were notified immediately and road blocks were set up throughout the area, but the fleeing bandits eluded them.

Schofield said the gunmen repeatedly demanded, "Where's the money?" The manager said the men apparently were after $100,000 the bank customarily brings in anticipation o fcashing payday checks. The box of $50,000, which the bandits missed, was part of the shipment. The other half had not arrived yet.

Seven students received diplomas at recent mid-term graduation ceremonies at Douglas School of Business, Monessen.

Graduates of junior accounting and business administration were John Weber and Charles Urdenis, both of Monessen, and August Bachetti, of Newell.

From the stenographic course: Patricia Jean Musial, of Donora, and Lois Ann Zanardelli and Mary Ann Sabolck, both of Belle Vernon.

Patricia Ann Gaydan, of Monongahela, is an elective course graduate.

The next graduation will take place in May.

Boys Steal March Of Dimes Container

Police are on the lookout for the "mean bunch of boys" who took a March of Dimes contribution can from Nick's Dairy Bar at 49 Schoonmaker avenue yesterday.

Nicholas Puleo, owner, said the boys rushed into the store while a female clerk was in a back room, grabbed the can and dashed away.

It contained about $5, it was stated.

PUBLIC APOLOGY

Local Pilot Tells of Iceland

The vital role the United States Air Force is performing in Iceland in defense of the U. S. was related to members of the Monessen Rotary Club yesterday by Capt. Julius Conti, Jr., of Monessen, a fighter pilot with the Air Force at Keflavik, Iceland.

Captain Conti, who currently is piloting F-86 jets, is stationed with the U. S. forces of the Continental Air Defense Command attached to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

The Defense Command, he said, is one of the three Air Commands which make up the Air Force. The others are Strategic Command and Tactical Command. The Strategic Command is made up of light and heavy bombers and the Tactical Command is made up of jet fighter and interceptor planes that also support ground troopers.

He then went on to explain the duties of the Air Command in Iceland, an island measuring about 200-square miles.

"Although it is one of the smaller islands, it is very strategic," he said. Iceland is 1,800 miles from

Frank McKosky Dies; Former Coach Here

Frank V. McKosky, a former football coach, athletic director and teacher at Monessen High School, died today at 1:20 a. m. in Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh.

McKosky, ill for the past half year, was rushed to the hospital yesterday afternoon when his condition worsened.

The veteran teacher became ill last summer when he was hospitalized with a form of pneumonia which reportedly affected his heart. He did not return to school for the 1956-57 term, requesting a leave to recover from the illness.

McKosky's condition appeared improved prior to the fatal attack.

McKosky, who lived at 406 Reed avenue, was born in Monessen on April 27, 1909. He received his CHEETAH IS NEATEST EATER — One of the newest arrivals at the Bronx Zoo, New York, is this cheetah, a member of the cat family that is believed to be the fastest animal on four legs. They have been clocked at 75 miles-per-hour. This one has become the pet of keeper Kenneth Jahn and likes to take tidbits of meat from Jahn's mouth as shown.

Just Couldn't Wait to Fly

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP)— A 23-year-old student pilot who stole a single-engine airplane and skimmed over and between tall buildings in downtown Des Moines for four tense hours was under psychiatric examination today.

Roy Soderquist, with 15 hours of student flying time to his credit, a frustrated desire to get into the Air Force and a warning that he was not yet ready to solo, apparently couldn't wait.

He held everyone in terror Tuesday, from politicians to department store clerks while he buzzed recklessly low over buildings and repeatedly circled the 50-foot high statehouse dome before ending his airborne spree with an inept landing in a nearby cornfield.

The "fantastic" episode began at noon Tuesday when Soderquist reported to Jim Dolezal, an instructor for the American Aviation Co., for his flying lesson.

Dolezal said Soderquist walked toward the plane as if to climb in it but instead handed him a note threatening to shoot him in the legs unless he got out. Dolezal said he tried to dissuade Soderquist from the theft but he said the youth suddenly revealed a gun and said his "patience was running out."

Dolezal said he "got out in a hurry" and Soderquist took off on his first, and probably last, solo. Authorities said he headed straight for the downtown area and began buzzing the city.

Scrap Metal Prices Drop

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The price of steel-making grades of scrap metal dropped sharply here Monday on the basis of a substantial mill purchase.

The purchaser acquired No. 1 heavy melting grade scrap at $63 a ton, off $8 from a sale last month: No. 2 heavy melting at $56, off $7, and No. 2 bundles at $46, off $1.

The Real Texan Is Given to Soft Speech

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Texas! There she stands. The longest suffering, most maligned of states. She's not a braggart. She's a sweet, shy thing, retiring by nature, gentle of spirit.

The authentic Texan, the true breed, is given to soft speech and understatement (it says here today in medium-size print).

The swashbuckler, the hot-air merchant who has painted a swollen picture of the state on the national map, is a "professional Texan." The authentic Texans far outnumber the professional within the state, according to J. Frank Dobie.

Dobie, a writer long known as an authority on the flavor of the flatlands and the peccadilloes of the Pecos, was born on a ranch in the Texas brush country 68 years ago. He's a blue-eyed, salty-spoken gent with silky white hair and wiry, upswept white eyebrows. He believes the word genuine carries more weight if it's pronounced "genu-wine."

He came here to advise the NBC "Wide, Wide World" people, who in a forthcoming program will undertake to crowd the state of Texas onto a TV screen. He'll take part in the program.

Try To Oblige

"When we get out of the state, the time sometimes comes when a Texan is supposed to brag—and we always try to oblige and do what we're supposed to," he says. "But the authentic Texans are more given to understatement than overstatement."

And in the open spaces, language is sparse. Perpend the Texas anecdote: Two old cowboys, riding the line, camped together each night after riding apart by day. They would come in at eve, smoke a while, go to sleep.

One night, smoking, they heard an animal bawl. One said: "Bull!" The other said: "Sounds like a steer to me." They went to sleep, awoke, had breakfast, and then the one who had spoken first rolled his bedroll and got on his horse.

"Ridin'?" asked the other. "Yep," said the first, "too dawn much argument."

Another facet of Texas character shines clean in a conversation Dobie swears he heard in the hills over black coffee. A young sprout asked a lean old gaffer: "Grandpa, how come you and grandma been married 64 years and never quarreled?" The old man answered:

Relates Tale

"Tell yuh, sonny, it's like this. One day 64 years ago when I was pretty young and juicy, I said I was going to town and get me a drink and a woman. Well, I had three drinks and I saw a good looking girl and I asked if she'd marry me and she said she would.

"We went to a preacher and got married. Then we got on old Molly, my saddle mare, me in the saddle and your grandma behind me, and started off on the 20 miles to home. After a mile or so, Molly stumbled, and I jerked her up by the bit and I said: 'that's one time.'

"A mile later, Molly stumbled again. I jerked her up and I said: 'That's two times.' A little farther, a hollow, she stumbled again. I pulled a six-shooter and I said: 'That's three times.' and I shot her in the head.

"Your grandma said: "Whatta you mean, doing that? 'And I looked at her and I said: 'Ma, that's one time.'"

WHICH MAN PASSED THE N. P.* TEST?

*NINETY PERCENT

The poised, smartly-dressed man at the left of course. You can tell at a glance . . . and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see of you is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch . . . like a flower in the buttonhole. It's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you.

You buy your clothes to make a good impression. As you wear them, have them drycleaned often. A smart man takes care to keep that impression fresh.

Local Groups Plan for United Drive for Funds

Mrs. Joseph Williams, chairman of the Fayette City polio drive; Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh, chairman of the area heart drive; Howard McCrory, American Cancer Society and George Hancock, head of Cerebral Palsy, met Monday evening at the Community Center to discuss the possibilities of launching an all-out campaign for the combined agencies.

The stress of securing volunteer workers for these five major drives in addition to several annual local drives each year brings about a need for combining the efforts but at the same time making the people realize that their donations must be made with the thought in mind they are giving five times.

It has been discussed that such a drive would be held in March, and although considerable planning will be necessary for its success the committee wishes to indicate that it is not a united drive in which the total amount of money received is divided but that they will distribute envelopes listing the agencies and have the donor indicate the amount he desires to contribute to each.

It is also planning to increase the size of the board and will meet later this week to iron out the problems that might arise. Mrs. Williams stated that this will eliminate the Mothers' March which would have been held this week. It will also eliminate Heart Sunday and the other individual house to house canvases carried out in the past.

Programs for each agency, through the schools and in business houses, will continue to be held during the months set by the national organizations and added to the total of each agency when the all-out drive is held.

The committee has aready received commendation for this program from many of the workers. Suggestions from the pubic would be appreciated.

Joseph Alberta underwent a major operation in the Allegheny General Hospital Monday morning after undergoing observation for a week. His condition is reported to be good.

Unfrocked Pastor To Be Reinstated

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—A synodical committee of the United Lutheran Church today prepared for the reinstatement of a young pastor unfrocked for heresy a year ago.

The committee Tuesday voted to take back Rev. Victor K. Wrigley, pastor of the Gethsemane Lutheran Church of Brookfield, Wis. He was convicted of heresy along with another Milwaukee area minister on charges of denying the virgin birth and other basic church doctrines.

Methodist Class Meets Friday At Evans Home

The I. H. M. S. class of the Fayette City Methodist Sunday School met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. William Evans, Sr., of Connellsville street.

Mrs. Walter Ridgway, devotional leader, chose for her topic, "Starting the New Year." Mrs. James Welch, Mrs. Alfred Makepeace and Mrs. George Roy took part in the worship program.

Following a brief business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Mary Bell Masten, class members and guests, Mrs. John Stimmell, Mrs. Robert Park, Sr. and Mrs. Charles Hough enjoyed a social hour of games including Chinese checkers and scrabble.

Mrs. Masten was co-hostess with Mrs. Evans. They were assisted by Mrs. Evans' daughters, Betty and Mrs. Robert Park, Jr.

Woman's Club Plans Spring Activities Here

Mrs. Stephen Figel, Mrs. Richard Auther and Mrs. LeRoy Gardner, co-chairmen for the ways and means committee of the Fayette City Woman's Club met Monday evening at the Community Center to plan spring activities.

Plans were discussed for a card party to be held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 12 in the club rooms of the Center. The committees will be named from the membership not previously active in an earlier project of the committee.

Also present at the meeting were Mrs. James Welch, Mrs. Raymond Barker, Mrs. Elmer Russell, Mrs. Read Brightwell, Mrs. Thomas Conway, Mrs. Patrick Hynes and Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh. This group of people will head committees for an activity being planned in March.

Leave Here for Home in Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hough, and son Wallace, left Saturday morning for their home in Tampa, Fla. after spending two days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hough.

The family came north earlier in the week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Hough's brother in Bridgville.

Flash Floods in Four States

One Dead; Damage Is Heavy

By UNITED PRESS

Colder and clearing weather today was expected to ease the torrent of rampaging river waters that killed at least one person and left three others missing in four eastern states.

The flash floods in Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee swamped some 13 communities and caused damages of several million dollars.

Heavy rains were blamed for the floods.

Pound, Va., in the Cumberland Valley, was flooded by a 16-foot wall of water, and flood waters at Barbourville, Ky., reached a depth of 20 feet.

The floodwaters isolated Logan, W. Va., a community of 5,000 persons, and Hazard, Ky., during the night.

A 7-yead-old boy slipped and drowned while crossing Mud Fork Creek in Logan County, W. Va., and three persons were missing. An elderly couple was missing at Pound, and a man was reported carried away by floodwaters nead Harlan, Ky.

Other floods hit Welch, W. Va., isolating that community and forcing evacuation of some families. A power failure blacked out the Welch Emergency Hospital.

Elsewhere, more snow was expected today in the southern Rockies where 55 to 60 railroad workeas are trapped by 21 feet of snow in Cumbres Pass near Chama, N.M.

Authorities said two Army Weasels bucking the huge drifts in the pass are expected to reach the stranded men today.

A frigid cold wave swept out of the Plains States and overspread most of the Mississippi Valley, the Southern Plains and the Great Lakes region.

Up to 10 inches of snow hit Antelope Valley near Los Angeles, and some 20,000 school children were sent home. Heavy snow also fell at banning, Calif.

Atomic

dustry has grown to seven. But the effort to make nuclear power pay its way is still "in its early stages."

Atoms-for-peace was advanced by adoption of a statute for an 82-nation international atomic energy agency. In addition, this country has negotiated 41 agreements to help 39 nations set up research or power reactors.

The United States still leads the free world in production of uranium, the atomic raw material. In the past half year it stockpiled more nuclear fuels and explosives than ever before in a like period

In weapons, "accelerated research, development and production programs" necessitated expansion "of the weapons research, engineering and production complex."

Less "Dirty" Fallout

President Eisenhower had said the 1956 H-bomb tests in the Pacific were aimed at making the H-bomb less "dirty" from a radioactive fallout standpoint and more useful from a military standpoint. He linked the tests to perfection of hydrogen warheads for intercontinental missiles. He emphasized that the trend was not toward larger but toward smaller H-bombs that could be used in more strictly military situations than the giants.

In this connection, the AEC said the 1956 tests, ended last July 23, "gave important information relating to developing means of reducing fallout from weapons firings, weapons for defensive purposes, and new design principles which will lead to more efficient weapons that can be more effectively employed."

Work Is Progressing

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today construction of the full-scale atomic power plant at Shippingport, Pa., is progressing satisfactorily and operations will start late this year.

Big Steel's 1956 Report Allays Fears of Drop in Steel Output

NEW YORK (UP) — Wall Street regarded the 1956 report of the U. S. Steel Corporation as favorable for the steel industry.

Traders said it allayed fears of a sharp drop in steel output in the second quarter as had been heralded in recent markets as a factor putting pressure on steel shares.

Also the street was favorably impressed with the dividend hike to 75 cents a share from 65 cents. The payout of Big Steel of around 50 per cent isn't considered much as corporation practice goes but is about all that the trading element anticipated from a company ploughing back earnings into the business on a big scale.

The Street was pleased that Roger Blough, U.S. Steel chairman, said his company has no plans for a general price boost at this time. A price hike, market men said, would only bring investigations and upset a lot of applecarts.

Blough didn't seem to be half as pessimistic as some Wall Streeters recently on second quarter steel operations.

He said there might be some moderation in demand for delivery in the second quarter but that it will be "a very good quarter for U.S. Steel and the entire industry."

Reduction in demand for auto steel is being offset just now by demands for plate and structural steel, Blough said.

With few exceptions, Blough said, the supply of steel is just about adequate to satisfy current demand of steel consumers."

There will be other demands coming up in the not distant future, one of which is road building which is going to use a lot of steel. Not long ago the experts were worrying over whether or not the road program could go on as planned because of the steel supply situation.

Big Steel reported several records despite the long strike last summer. Its sales for all of 1956 set a record and had not costs risen sharply the net income also would have achieved a new high according to the experts.

Fourth quarter sales touched a new high and the fourth quarter net was a record for that period

The giant corporation in all o. 1956 earned net income of $347,865,150 after paying out taxes of $427,088,507.

ing turnpike trials would clear McSorley of the charges.

In a statement issued in Pittsburgh, McSorley said he will go into court to retain his job, because his self-respect and honor demand that he challenge the suspension order.

Torrance was charged with taking part in an alleged conspiracy aimed at milking the commission of $19,500,000. McSorley was indicted for misconduct in allegedly providing a chauffeur for his predecessor, Thomas J. Evans of Coaldale, at commission expense, "without benefit to the commission."

Leader asked the two to "stand aside" without pay pending the outcome of their cases, and when they refused, he ordered their suspension.

Both men plan to fight the governor's suspension order in court. Shortly after he took office, Leader attempted to fire Watson from the commission, but was overruled by the state Supreme Court.

Senate Minority Leader John H Dent (Westmoreland) tried unsuccessfully to have the chamber approve Byrne's nomination.

Just before the vote on Williamson, Dent asked the GOP members to consider Byrne's nomination which has been in committee since it was presented Jan. 1.

Sen William J. Lane (D-Washington) termed the chamber's ignoring Byrne's appointment while approving Williamson's "a slap in the face." The only negative ballot in the 49 to one vote confirming Williamson was cast by Sen. John C. Miller (D-Beaver) who said he protested the appointment of an unknown man, while former state Sen. Byrne, who has served in the post for eight months was passed over.

Ike Doctrine Heads For House Passage

WASHINTON (UP)—The Eisenhower Doctrine headed toward passage today in the House.

The Doctrine, authorizing President Eisenhower to use troops if necessary and economic aid to protect the Middle East from Red aggression, was expected to pass the House overwhelmingly.

But in the Senate the Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees continued their joint hearings on the Doctrine.

The committees called Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for questioning. And the end of the hearings appeared far from in sight.

Moreover, Democrats took the Senate floor Tuesday to deliver a four-hour attack on the administration foreign policy in the Middle East.

Other developments:

Racketeering: Sen. John L. Mcclellan (D-Ark) asked the Senate Rules Committee for $350,000 to finance a racketeering investigation of labor and industry. McClellan is almost certain to head the investigation.

Guard: Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La) of a House Armed Services subcommittee said he will invite Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson to explain his "draft dodging" charge against the National Guard. The subcommittee opens hearings Monday on National Guard problems.

Democrats: Eighty Democrats from states outside the South came out for a "liberal" legislative program. The program includes the major proposals in President Eisenhower's legislative program —and more.

Refugees: Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) of the House Immigration subcommittee introduced a bill easing temporary immigration quota restrictions on a dozen nations. The bill would permit admission of a total of 8,000 more immigrants a year.

Airpower: Senate Democratic airpower investigators warned U.S. defenses against surprise attack have been weakened. They blamed the administration's "tendency to either ignore or underestimate" Soviet military progress.

son's complaint about the National Guard?"

The President said in a low tone of voice that his interrogator knew better than that.

He said that anything the leaders of the National Guard had done, to the extent of his knowledge, had been done under existing law which provides that young men between the ages of 17 and 18½ can enter the guard directly.

He said he had struggled for years to make the guard a first line of defense. But, he said, it was never going to be that kind of force, a force needed by this country in a day of increasingly complex and more deadly weapons, until the government could have these National Guard recruits undergo six months of hard, efficient and basic training.

Mr. Eisenhower said he felt certain this was Wilson's goal. But he thought Wilson had made a very unwise statement without stopping to think.

West Meeting To Decide on Israel Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Western diplomats consulted privately today on a U.N. resolution to get Israel's forces out of Egypt without reviving the possibility of border warfare There was a growing demand for the use of U.N. Emergency Forces (UNEF) in disputed areas.

The General Assembly recessed its Middle East debate and took up a study of South Africa's apartheid or total segregation policies and the treatment of persons of Indian origin in that country. The Union of South Africa was boycotting the session.

The Security Council called a meeting this afternoon to continue its debate on Kashmir. Since the last debate last week India ignored a council plea not to upset the status quo and took the final step to "integrate" the former princely state into its own territory.

Tentative plans called for the General Assembly to meet again Friday on the Middle East. Western diplomats were holding a series of meetings on how to get Israeli forces out of the Gaza Strip and Aqaba Gulf areas and to make sure the areas will not be used for Egyptian military action.

Five Youths Are Killed in Crash

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (UP) — Five youths returning to college following a mid year vacation were killed Tuesday when their auto collided head-on with a double-decked Greyhound Bus on an icy highway in the Pocono Mountains, 25 miles west of here.

The dead, all students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, were Demetrius Speros-Marion, 19, Bloomsburg, Pa., believed to have been the driver of the car, Terry Edward Hawk, 18, Bloomsburg; William John Snyder, 20, Danville, Pa., Bernard B Bastci, 21, Berwick, Pa.; and Mc Clellan P. Whitenight, 18, Bloomsburg.

early education in Monessen public schools.

After his graduation from Monessen High School in 1926, he attended Temple University, in Philadelphia where he earned his bachelor's degree.

McKosky later secured a masters degree at the University of Pittsburgh. He also did graduate work at West Virginia University, Duquesne University and Minnesota University.

In both high school and college, he was a football star.

For four years — 1937 through 1940 — McKosky coached football at Monessen High His teams won 18 games, lost 13 and tied eight.

McKosky served as athletic director for 12 years. During that time, he developed a system for athletic administration which won wide acclaim. Annually he prepared an athletic report which recorded every phase of the Monessen sports program

McKosky also helped to prepare a "philosophy of sports" statement which was published in The Pathlete, official publication of the PIAA.

Because of his health McKosky resigned as athletic director in November.

He served as a teacher for 25 years in the Monessen school system. All of that time was spent as an instructor in English, American Government and History at the Vocational School.

McKosky was a member of Holy Name R C Church, the Monessen Council, Knights of Columbus, Elks Lodge 773, American Legion; and the Holy Name Society.

He served with the Army during World War II

McKosky was also active as a footoall official and served for many years as secretary of the Mon Valley Chapter

He is survived by his wife, Mary; four sisters, Mrs Anna Kartans, of Shroudsburg, Mrs Veronica Nestor, of Reading, Mrs. Helen Hembsch of Long Island, N. Y.; and Angela McKosky, also of Long Island; two brothers, Theodore, of Bethlehem, and Peter, of Belle Vernon.

Three Visiting Chamber Officials In Tour Here

Three officials of the West Chester Chamber of Commerce made an all-day tour yesterday of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce and establishments belonging to the Chamber.

Making the tour were Charles McArdle, traffic committee chairman; Irvin Miller, retail division chairman; and Irv Klein, vice-president.

Various members of the local Chamber explained their duties. They included Leonard C. Stein, industry committee chairman; Norman Henderson, mercnants division, Harry Roberts, special programs; Henry Furio, schools, Charles Hagerstrand, Business - Industry - Education activities, Harry R. Pore, Jr., and William H. Pore publicity; Harold B. Cramer membership and finance, and Edward Lhota, store hours.

Mayor Hugo J Parente met with the group and reported on the present and future redevelopment plans for Monessen.

The visitors were guests of the Rotary Club at noon.

The officials also attended the opening of the newly redecorated Check's Furniture Store

They were accompanied on the visit by George Cieply, executive manager of the local Chamber

Medical Report Indicates Slaying Suspect Lying

CHICAGO (UP) — Authorities started a new phase in their investigation into the slaying of two young sisters today following a medical report that disputed a suspect's confession

The surprise report at Tuesday's inquest indicated a skid row romeo was lying when he admitted slaying the teen-aged girls after a week long sex and liquor orgy

Instead the findings of Dr. Walter Camp, state toxicologist, showed the girls apparently died about five hours after they left their home to attend an Elvis Presley movie Dec 28.

The unclothed and frozen bodies of the victims, Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13 were found Jan 22 in a suburban forest preserve ditch

Report Based On Food

Camp's report was based on tests of food particles found in Barbara's stomach. The foods were the same the girls' mother, Mrs Loretta Grimes, served her daughters the night they disappeared.

P&LE Loss of Mail Contracts Cuts Service

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad says the Post Office Department's policy of cancelling railroad mail contracts in favor of highway carcarriers may increase the cost of transporting mail.

P&LE president John W Barriger voiced this warning Tuesday when he announced his company is discontinuing two trains between Pittsburgh and Youngstown, Ohio, because its mail contracts were cancelled

Barriger said the railroad will quit the mail hauling business permanently.

The trains being discontinued effective Sunday, are the No. 30, which leaves Youngstown at 4:05 p.m daily except Sunday, and the No. 79, which leaves Pittsburgh at 11 50 p.m. daily.

The trains serve New Castle, West Pittsburgh, Wampum, Beaver Falls - New Brighton, Fallston, Beaver-Rochester Monaca, Aliquippa and Coraopolis, all in Pennsylvania.

In a letter to Postmaster General Arthur E Summerfield, Barriger declared:

"The Post Office policy of de oloving the railroads of mail on a selection basis may result ultimately in increasing rather than decreasing the total transportation costs of the Post Office

"A continuation of the Post Office Department's policy of giving contracts to highway carriers, where it suits these carriers to seek traffic, will entail higher costs and higher charges for such service as it chooses to leave with the railroads."

The P&LE said it received approximately $300,000 in mail revenues in 1955 and $250,000 in 1956

Without this source of revenue, Barriger said, the railroad "cannot afford" to operate the two trains.

State Assembly Clears Way for Leader's Budget

Takes Action on Controversial Items Yesterday

HARRISBURG (UP)—The 1957 General Assembly has cleared its decks of some major legislation to prepare for Gov. George M. Leader's biennial budget slated for delivery to the lawmakers next week.

In a fast moving session Tuesday before both chambers adjourned for the week:

1. The House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate proposed constitutional amendments for a Korean War bonus, absentee voting by civilians and annual sessions of the Legislature.

2. The Senate, by a 49-1 vote confirmed the nomination of a Republican, Merritt A. Williamson, of Pennsylvania State University, to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

3. House Republicans pushed through and sent to the Senate by a 116-82 vote a resolution calling on Gov. George M. Leader to turn over any information of "wrongdoing" pertaining to the Labor and Industry Department special fund for possible action by a Dauphin County grand jury.

4. The House by a voice vote sent to the Senate a proposal for a committee of the House and Senate to investigate the operations of the state Pardons Board—paying particular attention to the Darcy case where three condemned Philadephia slayers had their lives spared by the board's action.

However, a companion measure which would have required the board to disclose its reasons when it recommended pardons was returned to the House Judiciary Committee.

The three proposed constitutional amendments passed without a dissenting vote. The proposed $150,000,000 bonus for Korean War veterans and the absentee voting revision are on their second round in legislative action. The bill for annual sessions is before the lawmakers in its present form for the first time. Each must be approved by two legislative sessions before going before the voters in a referendum.

Lone Objection

The only dissenting vote on confirmation of Williamson was cast by Sen. John C. Miller (D-Beaver). Miller said his action was a protest against the dominant Senate Republicans refusal to act on the nomination of Democratic Turnpike Commissioner John F. Byrne, Philadelphia, who was named to an interim term last May after the 1955 Legislature adjourned without confirming him.

Miller charged the Senate Republicans with "playing politics" in refusing to act on Byrne while approving Williamson to the $13,000 a year post. Williamson fills the vacancy caused by the death of former Commissioner David E. Watson, Philadelphia. His confirmation answers a plea for quick action by Leader so that turnpike fiscal operations will not suffer because of the absence of a three-man quorum.

The Democratic minority in the House charged that the resolution calling for Leader to turn information concerning administration of the special Labor and Industry Department fund over to Dauphin County District Attorney Huette F. Dowling was "politically inspired."

The resolution contended that the governor's recent firing of former Labor and Industry Secretary John R. Torquato "suggests" that Torquato had made unawful use of the special fund. Its adoption scrapped another proposal which would have had the House and Senate make a joint investigation of the fund.

The only stated objection to the proposal for the inquiry into the state Pardons Board came from Rep. Francis Worley (R-Adams) a Quaker and a long-time opponent of capital punishment. Worley said he could not "in good faith," vote for it.

Both chambers adjourned until next Monday when the Senate will return at 3 p.m. and the House at 4:30 p.m.

TO INTERVIEW APPLICANTS—Capt. Margaret Duplease, Air Force procurement officer for this district, will interview applicants for commissioned nurses tomorrow at the First National Bank Building, Charleroi. Applicants must be between 18 and 40, a graduate of a school of nursing, no dependents under 18 years of age. The office will open at 9 a. m.

'Ghost Cat' Is Just Squeaky Water Meter

GLENDORA, Calif. (UP)—Repairs began today on Vincent Carta's $20,000 home which was almost wrecked in a search for a "ghost cat" whose haunting cries turned out be a squeaky water meter instead of the cat's meow.

Construction crews began repairing holes in walls and torn down sections of siding left from a 22-day search by police, firemen, construction men and technicians for what was believed to have been a cat trapped inside a wall.

The actual cause of the wailing was finally located when a sound engineer using sensitive equipment traced the meowing to the defective meter. Hundreds of spectators had crowded around the house, which had to be roped off by police.

Iceland

Moscow and over 2,500 miles from New York, he pointed out.

At the Iceland base, he said the Air Command is made up of three different operations: detection, identification and destruction. Giant radar stations make up the detection detachment, which, in turn, alerts identification if an unidentified aircraft is in the area.

Then the identification squadron goes into action. He said that within a matter of minutes the F-86 jets are off the ground and searching the skies. An F-86, which carries a pilot and radar observer, can travel faster than sound, or some 765 miles an hour. It can climb over 11 miles into the air and is armed with 104 rockets measuring 2.75 inches each in diameter. He said these have the destruction power of a 105 howitzer.

In effect, the identification operation can quickly become a destruction operation if unfriendly aircraft is spotted.

He said the maintaining of an Air Command in Iceland is extremely costly. Each F-86 alone costs $800,000, and there are 26 in Iceland. Millions more go for the upkeep of the base.

To train a pilot properly and efficiently today costs about $400,000 over a four-year period, he stated.

Captain Conti said the F-86, as good as it is, is slowly becoming obsolete. He stated the Air Force has a newer and better jet that surpasses the F-86 in everything — speed, climb, maneuverability and firepower. The new plane is still on the "classified" list he reported.

Captain Conti then spoke on the non-duty activities at the 4,000-man base. He said just about all activity is within the base because of the unfriendly attitude of the Icelandic people.

Only five men a day are permitted off the base to visit nearby communities. Most of those who take passes do so to go fishing and don't bother to mingle with the resentful Icelanders.

He said the Icelanders still stick to their old customs and resent any interference from outsiders. Captain Conti said,

"The people of Iceland dislike everyone. But of all the people they dislike, they dislike the Americans the least."

About 30 per cent of Icelanders are Communists, he said.

He also stated that Iceland had no intention of renewing its agreement to allow the base to continue operations. However, "they changed their minds in a hurry" when the recent Hungarian revolt erupted, the captain declared.

In Iceland, he informed the gathering, there are 23 to 24 hours of daylight during Summer months. However, during the remaining months it is almost totally dark. The weather is very cold most of the time, he reported.

A graduate of Monessen High School in 1946, Capt. Conti is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Conti, Sr., of 9 Pennsylvania boulevard. He attended the University of Pittsburgh and entered West Point in 1947. He received his wings in 1952 and has been in Iceland since last July.

At present, he is on a 15-day furlough.

$38,500 Settlement In Bank Shortage

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The federal government has accepted a $38,500 settlement from two Washington County brothers involved in a 1950 shortage at the First National Bank of Cecil.

The agreement between the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and Paul Ciaffoni, Canonsburg, and Pietro Ciaffoni, of Muse, was approved Tuesday by Federal Judge John L. Miller.

The FDIC accused the brothers of conspiring with the bank's vice president and cashier, John F. Wagner, who shot and killed himself in front of the bank's vault.

The government originally sought $93,600, representing overdrafts on checking accounts, from the brothers and later raised the claim to $159,000.

Dianne Salotti

Dianne Salotti At All-state Chorus Festival

Representing Monessen High School at the All State Chorus Festival tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at Washington, Pa. will be Dianne Salotti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Salotti.

Competing by try-out with students from 70 other high schools, who were members of the Western District Chorus Festival recently held in Turtle Creek, Dianne placed first in the second alto section. From a chorus of 200 she was one of 35 chosen to represent the Western District.

Serving as host for the All State Festival is L. Herbert Ostrander, head of the vocal music department in the Washington schools. Gerhard P. Schroth, a member of the staff of the Christiansen Summer Choral School, choral director of the National Broadcasting Co. of Chicago, director of music at the Chicago Lutheran High School and a composer-arranger, will direct the festival.

Sponsoring the festival is the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association. Comprising the chorus will be music students from high schools over the entire state and there will be about 250 in the group.

Concerts are being given Friday and Saturday evening in the Washington High School auditorium. The public may attend.

Ike Meets King Saud At Plane

WASHINGTON (UP) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia, a desert monarch in gold-threaded robes bearing bejeweled gifts, arrives in Washington today to talk with the man he calls "my friend Eisenhower" about peace in the Middle East.

The bearded, bespectacled Arabian, reputed to be the world's richest ruler, hopes to fly from New York aboard President Eisenhower's luxurious personal plane, the Columbine III.

There was a possibility, however, that fog might delay the flight or force the King and his entourage to come to Washington by train. Some flights out of New York were cancelled because of fog Tuesday night and the forecast for today called for cloudy weather.

On Official Visit

He arrives for a four-day official visit which the United States government views as a vital part of its campaign to keep the Middle East free of Russian domination.

The King will be greeted with about as much splendor as this capital of democracy can muster—quite in contrast to the cold shoulder treatment he received from city and state leaders on his arrival in New York Tuesday.

Mr. Eisenhower, departing from his usual practice of waiting at the White House to welcome visiting foreign dignitaries, was going to the airport to greet King Saud.

Troops On Hand

The greeting party also will include Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, other high administration officials and ranking members of the diplomatic corps, plus an honor guard of troops from all of the armed services.

After the airport welcome, the President and Saud will head a motorcade that will drive to the presidential guest house, historic Blair House across the street from the White House, where the King will reside while in Washington.

Fourteen bands and government workers will line the route.

Weather permitting, Saud seemed assured of a large turnout along the streets of Washington because he is one of the most colorful figures to visit here in recent years.

Hot in Buenos Aires

BUEOS AIRES (UP) — The temperature hit a sizzling 110 degrees here Tuesday, the highest reading in the 100-year history of the local weather bureau.

Prisoner Loses to Stewardess

WASHINGTON (UP)—A burly escaping prisoner trying to take over an airliner 17,000 feet up pitted himself against a petite stewardess. He lost.

The Northwest Airlines four-engine Stratocruiser was 45 minutes out of Detroit bound for Washington with 43 passengers and six crew members aboard.

Among the passengers were four guarded prisoners including 26-year-old alleged bank robber Louis Arquilla of Braintree, Mass. He and two others were being taken to Baltimore, Md., to face charg in a $12,600 bank robbery.

Stewardess Virginia Buss of Minneapolis walked down the plane's aisle and unlocked the door of the cockpit.

Suddenly Arquilla threw his dinner plate into the face of the deputy marshal guarding him and lunged for the cockpit door. A table knife in his hand.

Miss Buss sensed someone coming at her. She rushed through the door, slammed it shut and screamed for help.

The 170 - pound prisoner ran against the door and tried to force it open. The 107-pound stewardess held it shut.

Pilot A. J. Stahel of Minneapolis told the co-pilot to take over the controls and rushed to help the stewardess.

"All I heard was a scream for help and a crash," he said later. "But I knew what was happening."

While they held the door, marshals tripped Arquilla and beat him on the head with a blackjack. Then they handcuffed him and took him back to his seat.

Tired Postman Quits

EVORA, Portugal (UP) — Villagers of Torre de Coelheiros are getting an idea of what the postman meant when he quit Jan. 1 and explained he thought he was underpaid for all the walking he had to do. The townsmen now have to walk eight miles to the nearest post office in St. Macos.

Pickets at Missile Range

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UP)—Some 900 non-union workers went on strike at the nation's top-secret guided missile firing range early today and picketed entrances of two government bases.

Scores of pickets manned entrances to Patrick, embracing a vast missile assembly area, and to the storage and firing reservation at nearby Cape Canaveral on the Florida east coast.

A civilian spokesman said the strike will not interfere with any test firings now scheduled.

A spokesman for Pan American World Airways, chief civilian contractor at the facilities, called the strike "illegal" and said the workers will be fired if the strike continues.

The strike was called "by surprise" last midnight EST and pickets appeared in droves at each of four entrances to the bases in time to meet predawn shifts with their "on strike" placards.

The non-union employes, who said they were protesting a denial of a right to vote on a prospective union affiliation, comprise about 5 per cent of the entire personnel of the missile firing-operation.

Lived in Hole For 35 Years

KINGSWORTHY, England (P) — Yolanda Span, a recluse who lived in a hole in the ground for 35 years, died recently in a hospital here, it was reported today.

Mrs. Span was a university graduate who was well traveled and knew five languages. She dug herself in after a row with her son, Louis, and lived in the hole until her death.

The son went to Australia after the family argument and died soon afterwards.

Mrs. Span's home was a 10 by 7 foot excavation covered with a corrugated iron roof. She cooked on an oil stove, used a pile of old blankets for a bed and kept the floor dry with scattered paper.

King Saud's Visit And U. S. Policies

THE VISIT of King Saud of Saudi Arabia to the United States is giving the American people a close look at one of the leading personalities of the troubled Middle East. And if nothing else is accomplished by the visit, it should be worthwhile from this standpoint alone.

King Saud as an individual, as well as his strategically important country, are about as far removed from American standards and concepts as it is possible to get. It is a gross understatement to say that we disapprove both of this man's mode of life and of the manner in which he governs his country.

But if the United States is going to be an effective leader in the world, it is going to have to do business with a great many people who do not wholly share American principles. And there are bound to be times when we find this quite disagreeable.

The alternative, however, to doing business with such people is to let others, meaning the Soviet Communists, do business with them. And it should not be very difficult for any sensible American to make a choice between these alternatives.

WHAT we cannot let ourselves forget is that there is very little likelihood that we are going to be able any time soon to make the world over on the American pattern. And if our approach to world affairs has one fundamental weakness, it would be our national predilection for having everybody live and act approximately as we live and act and giving them the cold shoulder if they don't.

Just now we are hearing some American voices raised in righteous protest that our government would stoop to entertain a reprobate like King Saud. Why, it is said, he has concubines and slaves, and he buys Cadillacs with money he ought to be spending to improve the lot of his impoverished subjects!

Other Americans are working up a similar sweat about a proposed visit of Marshal Tito, the Communist dictator of Yugoslavia, to the United States. They beat their breasts and announce that Tito is a tyrant whho suppresses civil liberties and puts his opponents in jail. As if the rest of the world doesn't know this as well as they do!

What these foolish people are not able to understand is that the United States is not a messiah sent to sit in judgment on the world and separate the sheep from the goats. Indeed, our usefulness as a leader practically disappears when this attitude creeps into our policies and actions.

This does not mean that we need to hide our principles or modify them. We need leave King Saud, for instance, in no doubt as to what we think about harems.

But the proper role of the United States in world affairs, it seems to us, is two-fold. We can (1) set an example, by our own conduct more than by lectures, of how we think the nation should behave, and (2). we can work with others for the establishment of a world system of justice under law.

If in pursuance of these objectives the responsible officials of our government think it wise to have discussions with the likes of King Saud and if these discussions can best be held with the King as the guest of our government, surely the American people are sensible enough and mature enough to see the value of such procedures.

Wilson and the Guard

SECRETARY of Defense Charles E. Wilson's well known habit of blurting his thoughts (they might sometimes better be called hunches) has made him tell a congressional committee that during the Korean War the National Guard was a refuge for some draft dodgers. By joining the Guard, he implied, they were avoiding service in Korea.

It is not hard to believe that this could have been true in some cases. But if Secretary Wilson had stopped to think for just a moment before he spoke, he would have realized that his blurted comment did the National Guard as a whole the most serious injustice.

The role of the Guard in our overall defense arrangement has been a matter of debate among military authorities for at least a generation. And apparently it is still being debated in the Pentagon.

But regardless of this discussion, the fact is that the vast majority of men who join the National Guard do so from motives which are exactly opposite to those suggested by Mr. Wilson in his comment.

Merry-Go-Round—

Saud Spends Fabulously On Retinue

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — King Saud of Saudi Arabia is a six-foot-six-inch Arab, 55-years old, wearing a light yellow coat, brown suede shoes, a goatee, and eye-glasses, having 40 sons and a royal household with wives, concubines, slaves, royal retainers, and guards of reportedly around 10,000 people.

Mr. Pearson

He is bringing one of his youngest sons, five-year old Prince Manshur, to the United States to see if American doctors can help his crippled hand. He is bringing no wives. Remarked a courtier: "There are beautiful women in the United States."

There are only 200 miles of paved road in Saudi Arabia, but the country has 250 Cadillacs. The King owns quite a few of these elite cars and once gave, as a tip to the servants in Iran who took care of him on a visit there, two Cadillacs, one Chevrolet and $80.000.

The King's annual income from the Arabian-American Oil Co. is estimated at around $300,000,000. However, he has budget problems.

Of this huge income, the King spends $36,000,000 on defense, though his country is surrounded by friendly Arab neighbors. He also spends $24,000,000 on what is called internal security, which chiefly goes for payments to Arabian tribesmen to maintain their loyalty. Another $1.000,000 goes for what is called "general development," which reportedly is the improvement of palaces.

Only $10.700.000 goes to health, education, and social services all combined, with the most of the balance going to the King's own far-flung retinue.

Arabian Poverty

This gets to the heart of the most difficult problem facing the United States and President Eisenhower in the talks with King Saud. For, while the King and the President are both anxious to combat Communism in Saudi Arabia, the biggest breeder of Communism is the poverty of the Arabian people, who today are heavily tubercular, about 40 per cent syphilitic, with 70 per cent suffering from trachoma.

To combat this, the King has established only ten primary schools in his entire nation of nearly 7,000,000 people, and only two high schools.

President Eisenhower may consider it indelicate to make any suggestions to him about this internal problem: yet disease, poverty and ignorance are always the biggest breeders of Communism.

It's reported that the King wants to secure some American cash because his royalties have dwindled as a result of the Suez stoppage. How far Eisenhower and the State Department will go in suggesting that part of this money be spent on the Arabian masses, will be important to observe. At one time, Vice President Henry Wallace, then head of the Board of Economic Warfare, required that part of the money for American tin purchases in Bolivia go toward the betterment of Bolivian miners.

So far, however, both the Eisenhower administration and the Arabian-American Oil Co. have shied away from giving too many hints to King Saud about how he should spend either his oil royalties or American aid. In fact, the Eisenhower administration took the unusual stand of declining to sign a United Nations treaty to outlaw slavery, reportedly as a result of the sensitivity of King Saud.

Arab Slave Trade

This is the most shocking chapter in both the life of Saudi Arabia and to some extent in our relations with that country. The reports of the United Nations and the Anti-slavery Society of London show that approximately half a million slaves are held in Saudi Arabia, most of them recruited from Africa.

Arab slave traders for years have done a lucretive business carrying slaves from as far away as French Equatorial Africa to Saudi Arabia. In some cases, Negroes have been traded for guns. In other cases, Moslem Negroes have been promised a free trip to Mecca thereby ensuring that they will have a place in paradise. They have climbed happily aboard the slave-traders' trucks, journeyed to Arabia, and once there, have been arrested for illegal entry and sold on the slave market.

Female negroes under 15 sell for anywhere between $400 to $1,100, males for $400 to $500. UN reports tell of older slaves set free, because they are a burden on their owners, and allowed to starve in the streets of Saudi Arabian cities. On the other hand, King Ibn Saud, father of the King who is now visiting the United States, is credited with an edict requiring slave-owners to protect and support their slaves in their declining years.

Only about one per cent of all prisoners in America die or are executed in prison.

What's Wrong with News 'Leaks'?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

A professional journalistic question in which the public has a direct concern was asked of President Eisenhower at his latest press conference, the first in ten weeks.

To appreciate the pertinence of the question it is necessary to cite briefly the facts which produced it.

Mr. Drummond

Mr. Eisenhower was reminded that a few weeks ago in Augusta, some reporters wrote that they had overheard him "giving the dickens" to Secretary of Defense Wilson for alleged "leaks" in the Pentagon, but that despite this fact the American people got their first information about the new Eisenhower Middle East doctrine from an "inspired" and unattributable leak from the administration.

The President was then asked what he thought about such a practice and his reply was:

"I don't believe in such methods and I don't trust them so I have never been a party to an inspired leak."

Numerous Leaks

That is a welcome answer. I think that every correspondent would testify that in their experience the President has never been a party to an inspired leak.

But the administration has been a party to numerous, calculated and significant leaks, and it seems to me important to try to see clearly what is bad about these official leaks and what is relatively harmless about them. There is no good in getting all exercised about the wrong thing.

Here are three examples of deliberate, official administration leaks:

The President's decision to name Gov. Earl Warren of California to be Chief Justice of the United States was leaked to a few correspondents in advance of the White House announcement by, it was later disclosed, Attorney General Herbert Brownell. I assume the reason was to make sure that there were some good advance explanations of why Warren was selected.

Last month "The Washington Post and The Times Herald" carried a banner headline which read: "U. S. Modifies Disarmament Plan." This was not a government announcement; it was another leak, this time to about a dozen reporters, by Harold Stassen, who authorized the information but would not allow his name to be used. It came just before an important congressional committee report on disarmament.

And more recently still, four days before the White House meetings with the Democratic and Republican legislative leaders, the first information about the projected executive-congressional resolution warning Moscow that the United States would use force to defend the Middle East against Communist aggression, was exclusively given to the correspondents of four or five newspapers by an official who certainly wasn't doing it accidentally.

What's Wrong

Now, what's wrong with this? If this is just a complaint of some newspapermen against other newspapermen because they haven't been the beneficiaries of some government leaks, then, however valid the complaint, there is nothing particularly horrendous about it. It has been going on for many years and there is hardly a correspondent in Washington who hasn't profited news-wise by an especially good relationship with an official of the government.

But it seems to me that the real offense behind the news-leak methods, which the President "distrusts," has nothing whatever to do with competitive journalism.

The grave error of the "inspired leak" is that it dangles significant new policy before the American people without parentage. As in the case of the Middle East leak, the public was invited to weigh a vast, new, riskful commitment in news dispatches wherein the administration made it impossible to reveal the source of the information or where the responsibility for it lies.

Surely the public ought not to be asked to give its support to new policy proposals which reach it disembodied and suspended in type with no credentials from the President, the Secretary of State, or any identifiable official.

This is not good democracy and it is to be hoped that the President's opposition to such practices will prevail over his associates.

Behind The News—

Algerian Dispute Near Crisis on Two Fronts

By CHARLES M. McCANN

The Algerian dispute is approaching a show-down both in the United Nations and on the spot in French North Africa.

Among the issues involved are France's future relations with its 847,500 - square-mile Algerian possession, France's own future as a great power and France's relations with the United States.

By demand of "anti - colonial" Asian and African nations, the U.N. is to start debate this week—probably Wednesday — on the demands of Algerian nationalists for complete independence.

In anticipation of the debate, Algerian rebels have ordered an eight-day general strike throughout the country.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau is in New York to lead the French U.N. delegation during discussion of Algeria.

Premier Guy Mollet has ordered Pineau to give the facts, as France sees them, of the Algerian problem.

But France will not argue about it. It will not seek to justify its Algerian policy and it will deny the competence of the U. N. to intervene in what it regards as a purely internal question.

The U.N. can take no real action. But France would regard an unfavorable vote as a direct affront.

In a statement of policy made in Paris on Jan. 9, Mollet said that the first essential was that the rebels order a cease-fire in the revolt which broke out Nov. 1, 1954.

Within three months after a cease-fire, Mollet said, France will hold a free election aimed at giving equal rights, and a great measure of home rule, to Algeria's 8.3 million Moslems and 1.2 million Frenchmen. But Mollet announced:

"France will never abandon Algeria."

Goes To Great Lengths

The French government has gone to extraordinary lengths to strengthen its position for the U.N. debate and the vote which is expected to follow it.

Mollet sent Pineau to Washington earlier this month to try to persuade Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to support France.

Dulles failed to give the desired assurance.

Mollet also called in to his Paris office the diplomatic envoys of more than 30 U.N. countries to try to line them up on France's side.

If France lost Algeria, after losing Indochina and giving independence to Morocco and Tunisia, which flank Algeria on the west and east, its position as a world power would be threatened.

A new angle of the Algerian situation is that France has high hopes that it can supply all of its oil needs within 15 years from fields in the Sahara Desert, mostly in Algeria. It has launched a $714 million five-year plan to develop the oil resources.

One Who Understood The 'American Dream'

By MARGARET LATROBE

In return "for everything it gave me, the opportunities to work and to be free," Gennaro Sorrenti, Italian immigrant, bequeathed the City of New York most of his worldly goods—the sum of $20,000.

Mrs. Latrobe

Called "Jimmy the Iceman" by his customers, Mr. Sorrenti delivered the cold product of a fast melting business —ice for old-fashioned ice boxes — with a warm heart for many a long year in his adopted Brooklyn.

His life and times were unnoticed and unremarkable beyond his small circle of friends. His death would have been a mere extension of this obscurity, except for his bequest to a city which to Gennaro Sorrenti represented the American Dream.

There have been native-born Americans with less understanding of this country's "opportunities to work and to be free." Some of them, rather than expressing gratitude by leaving money to the government have made public clamor against further freedom. There have been those who tell us that "patriotic duty" is nonsense, that "Americanism" is for numbskulls of quite limited intelligence. There have been those who would invite the Communist "political party" to cast its vote side by each with any other. "Why not? It's a free country, isn't it?

The 'American Dream'" means freedom for everyone,, even for those who prefer Russian domination to representative government."

We have so much of everything, even opportunity, that sometimes one fact escapes us — someone worked to provide the plenty we enjoy. The muchness appears to fall upon us, enveloping our lives — perhaps there are money trees, self-propelled currency machines that grind out good wages and split level homes and shiny automobiles. We have only to reach out and take what's coming to us.

Supply and demand, eh? With supply in operation, can we handle "demand" — just show us the trough and we'll claim our share. With millions of Americans scurrying forth to work, paying taxes, building roads, donating to charity, with the economy of the country at its peak — maybe we could coast a little. Certainly, when the pie is served we don't stand aside.

Perhaps the perspective of Mr. Sorrenti, who knew and loved America for giving him the opportunity to work and to be free, was better than our own has been, now and then. His business was carried on from a cellar in Van Buren street, Brooklyn. The hours were long, and there may have been times of discouragement and doubt for Jimmy the Iceman. Perhaps his life was not everything he hoped it might be . . . One thing was clear, though. He understood what the American Dream was all about.

National Affairs—

State Department Needs a Defender

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Democratic assault on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles spotlights a serious propaganda deficiency in department defenses.

The department lacks a dependable and aggressive defender on Capitol Hill. Department agents have been nosing around for years seeking such an individual.

Mr. Wilson

There are several aggressive and effective Republicans in the Senate who could do the job — if they would. Such men as Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, Calif. and Sens. Styles Bridges, N. H. and William E. Jenner, Ind would fit the pattern.

Jenner, however, is more often off the party reservation than on it. Neither Bridges nor Knowland has done any real slugging so far in defense of Dulles.

Dulles Has Rough Time

Dulles, meantime, has been roughed up in public congressional hearings beyond the experience of most men. The general trend of attack has been that the secretary is responsible for Middle East policies or lack of policies which brought the threat of World War III very close.

That is a serious indictment. Equally serious is the charge often now repeated that Dulles has lost the confidence of Congress and of the United States' major European Allies. Whether Dulles actually has lost the confidence of Congress remains to be seen.

More likely than not, the Eisenhower administration's proposals for staving off Communist penetration of the Middle East will be approved by Congress without destructive changes. Such approval would be an expression of confidence, at least, in that policy. That is the one which has brought Dulles for days recently before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

Little Defense

The defense of Dulles in Congress is neither as sharp nor as sustained as the attack. The belief is spreading here that President Eisenhower must shortly speak up sharply for his secretary of state if Dulles' prestige is not to be very seriously damaged.

Mr. Eisenhower did so privately Tuesday when he paid a surprise visit to the capitol to lunch with Republican senators. Bridges told reporters afterwards the President described Dulles as a "well-qualified, conscientous, hardworking, dedicated secretary of state" doing a "terrific job under handicaps."

Dean Acheson got rough treatment from Congress during his term as secretary of state, perhaps as rough as Dulles has been experiencing, but with a difference. The difference was Harry S. Truman. Mr. Truman who placed Acheson in charge of the State Department, was his aggressive defender.

St. Paul Society Has Anniversary

The Faith Lippard Missionary Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church observed the 28th anniversary of its organization at a dinner meeting held last night in the church social rooms.

Yellow and white was the color theme carried out in the appointments and an arrangement of yellow and white gladiolus was used as the centerpiece. Each cover was marked with a scroll on which was inscribed "28th anniversary" and the names of the present officers.

The church pastor, the Rev. Paul Trout, asked the invocation and the closing prayer.

Business Meet

The president, Mrs. John Stieska, was in charge of a brief business meeting. Adopted as a new ways and means project to raise funds for the Church building fund was the sale of ribbon.

The local society was assigned to conduct the worship program for the next Monongahela Valley Study Class being conducted for Women of valley Lutheran Churches. It will be held in Charleroi on March 7.

The devotional leader was Mrs. Anita Karlosky, who chose as her topic "The Life and Work of a Lutheran Church Deaconess". Mrs. Karlosky told of the place held in the Lutheran Church by these devoted women and the subject was further illustrated by the showing of a film strip titled, "The Work of a Lutheran Church Deaconess". The film narration was given by Mrs. Paul Trout.

Charter Members

Two charter members of the organization were present, Mrs. Elizabeth Jenion and Mrs. Mildred Shrading. Mrs. Jenion gave a brief talk in which she pointed out the success of the organization was due to the constant cooperation and interest of church women in the mission fields. She urged a continued cooperation in the future.

Each member brought a guest to the party and the committee in charge of arrangements included Mrs. Stieska, Mrs. Delphia Kachur, Mrs. Emily Maykovich, Mrs. Julia Rose, Mrs. Ann Barton, Mrs. Elizabeth Behanna and Mrs. Tess Michaux.

Meany Summons Warring Factions In Labor Unions

MIAMI Beach (UP)—President George Meany summoned heads of two big warring factions of his AFL-CIO today to try to mend jurisdictional disputes that have rocked the merged labor movement.

Meany was scheduled to confer with Richard Gray, director of the Industrial Union Department, and A Whitehouse, president of the Building Trades Department

AFL-CIO President Walter Reuther head of the CIO before the union merger 14 months ago, is president of the Industrial Union Department made up chiefly of former CIO unions

The Building Trades Department is composed mainly of old AFL unions Most of the AFL-CIO's 140 international unions belong to one of the departments.

The two factions have been warring ever since the merger over jurisdiction. The disputes have blocked new organizing drives

Meany has recommended a program for settling the inter-union disputes and also for outlawing boycotts by one union of the products of another in the jurisdictional wars. Representatives of the two departments, however failed to agree on details of the peace plan.

YUL BE SORRY — Jeff Amos, Lincoln Junior High school pupil in San Francisco, inspects his nude noggin in a mirror, apparently none the worse in spirit for having been sent home by Principal J. B. Hill. Jeff shaved it himself as a result of a classroom discussion about the success of actor Yul Brynner. The principal explained, "I only sent him home to avoid embarrassment."

13,000 Die in Farm Accidents in U. S.

By UNITED PRESS

Accidents kill about 13,000 farm residents every year in the United States and injure more than a million other, Ralph Patterson, Penn State Extension Agricultural Engineer, warned today.

"It's a sobering thought," he said, "but those are the figures and a few safety rules could help one to a longer life."

According to the National Safety Council, Patterson said motor vehicle accidents are the leading source of death and injuries to rural people, and falls are rated the second highest.

He said the council emphasizes that all farm resident should know a few facts about traffic They must be able to recognize all traffic signs by their shape alone Their cars and trucks must be in safe operating condition They should know and use hand signals in driving

Falls, the second serious source of accidents, can be kept under control by applying common sense, Patterson said Check all ladders for safe condition before using them for high work Take a good look at the steps and stairs in the house and barn They should never, under any circumstances, be used as a storage space, keep them free of debris Also, stairs should be equipped with hand rails It is very easy to suffer a fatal accident over a pair of boots tossed on a step

Remember, concluded Patterson good housekeeping and common sense can prevent a lot of fatal tumbles.

A new automatic sprayer developed at the Pennsylvania State University may be the answer to the control of biting flies on cattle.

The effectiveness of the new device, which is still in the experimental stage, is now being measured in a series of studies directed by Tien-Hsi Cheng, zoologist at the agricultural expriment station

The electric-eye controlled sprayer, designed to control horse, stable, and horn flies of both beef and cattle, can be installed in a shed, in a pasture for treating beef cattle, and at the doorway of a stable for dairy cows.

This new machine sprays all parts of the animal except the head, and actual spraying time for each animal is less than two seconds This means, of course, that a herd of 100 heads can be treated within 10 to 15 seconds, and without panic on the part of the animals The sprayer gives cattle a more complete spraying than other methods, according to the tests, and is consistently effective in controlling the flies.

As machines go it is not complicated It consists of a rectangular-shaped pipe system with 10 nozzles, an electric eye, a flashlight, an electric motor, and a pump When an animal walks through the doorway, the beam of light is cut off and the sprayer turns on. It shuts off when the animals leaves the doorway.

The control of biting flies on cattle has always posed a serious problem to farmers The little pests can reduce the weight gain of steers from one half to one pound a day, and can decrease the milk production of cows from 20 to 40 per cent.

Good Posture Essential For a Person's Health

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Good posture is a habit. Unfortunately, poor posture is, too.

Correct posture is desirable for appearance's sake, but it's also essential for good health. Whether you're standing or sitting, posture has a direct effect on your efficiency, comfort and body functions.

If you slump, you not only feel uncomfortable, but your blood circulation is reduced, your breathing is shallow and your abdominal organs sag and function improperly. You'll probably become tired much more easily.

Proper posture, on the other hand, permits use of the body in the simplest and most effective way. Because of proper balance, rhythm, timing, coordination and muscle contraction and relaxation, you can do everything much more easily if you maintain good posture.

What is good posture? Well, you should appear to be standing straight when viewed from the side. An imaginary vertical line should be able to pass through the ankle, hip, shoulder and ear.

You don't have to assume a military ramrod position. Good straight posture actually is a natural position. Practice it and it soon will become a habit.

First, of course, you'll have to break the poor posture habit many of you undoubtedly have. The backache and foot and leg pains which frequently accompany bad posture will help remind you of the need for doing something about it.

Some persons may be unable to assume good posture even though they try. Luckily they are in the minority. But if you find that it is virtually impossible to stand in an erect position, better see your doctor about it.

Sometimes there are physical imperfections which contribute to bad posture. This is a problem for your physician.

Question and Answer

B. B.: What are the symptoms of tumor of the brain?

Answer: Symptoms of brain tumor depend upon the size and location of the tumor within the brain.

Most brain tumors cause headaches, disturbance of the various sensations and sense organs, such as the eyes; at times, attacks of vomiting may occur.

If a tumor of the brain is suspected, immediate study by a neurologist is advisable.

Chou to Study Releasing of 10 Americans

KATMANDU, Nepal (UP)—Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai said here today he would study the question of releasing 10 Americans held in Red China in exchange for the freeing of 33 Red Chinese he charged are held in the United States.

Chou said the 10 Americans would be released according to Chinese law and added, "they may be released even before serving their terms if they behave properly.

The Peiping leader renewed his offer to meet with U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles "anywhere" and at any time. But he complained that Dulles had made the release of the 10 Americans the condition for such talks.

Chou, winding up a visit here, said Red China already had released 33 Americans while the United States refused to hand over Chinese Communists it allegedly detains.

He said the United States wants China to make concessions "but they do not like to make any concessions."

Who Leads Charleroi-Monessen Series?

This item, clipped from the Charleroi Mail sports column authored by Johnny Bunardzya, has stimulated today's essay, which may prove of particular interest to the old-timers. Writes Bunardzya: "How does the Charlerol-Monessen basketball series stand now? . . . If you're from Charleroi, it's 42-38 in favor of the Hounds, who won six straight before the Cougars finally caught up with them. But if you're a Monessen die-hard, the Hounds hold a 42-32 edge. How come? Well, it's all due to a technicality and provincial pride. CHS records in basketball date back to 1915 and show six more victories for the Red and Black. In Monessen, however, the historians for some inexplicable reason inaugurated the colorful and keen cage rivalry in 1919 when the WPIAL began grouping the teams in sections.

"What makes the situation all the more humorous is the fact that BOTH schools started counting wins and losses in football the SAME year—1907! Since the WPIAL wasn't formed until 1914, Charleroians argue, the Cougars would have two less defeats chalked up against 'em if they didn't count the first five meetings between the two schools." . . . Admittedly the whole thing borders on the petty. But we were somewhat fascinated by the fact that no cage records are available at MHS prior to the 1918-1919 season. So we determined to find out what the Greyhound basketballers did during those seasons. And specifically we wanted to know if they lost six straight games to Charleroi, as Bunardzya seems to imply.

Volleyball Big Game in Those Days

Our first stab at solving the mystery was a long check through old newspaper files. They revealed nothing. It seemed volleyball—not basketball— was the big thing in Monessen those days. Consequently few cage scores ever got into the newspaper . . . Everett Pancook, MHS director of athletics, provided a clue to the mystery, though, by directing us to Thomas Preston, the school's sports historian. Preston recalled that Monessen High did have a basketball team prior to 1919, but could uncover no actual records. He suggested that we call Stewart Townsend, now principal and coach at West Newton High, who organized the first MHS quintet. And that proved to be a real lead.

Townsend, a venerable figure in basketball, recollected that he organized the first Greyhound basketball team in 1915-1916. "We didn't do too well that season," admits Townsend. "The boys were new to the sport and it's quite possible we lost to Charleroi.. Incidentally my best player then was John Preston, brother of Tom. It was a different story in 1916-1917, though. We won the Mon Valley title that season. I recall beating Donora in a playoff at the neutral Charleroi floor. We must have won at least one game, if not both, from Charleroi that year."

Townsend Supplies the Real Facts

Townsend continued to look back into his memories: "In 1917-1918, I know we beat Charleroi twice because we didn't lose a game. Monessen wasn't in the WPIAL then, so we challenged the WPIAL champ—South High—to a game on our floor and we beat them by five points. As a result, we were generally recognized as the 'non-league' champions. The following year 1918-1919 Monessen formally entered the WPIAL and we won the title in our first season. I haven't the scores of the individual games, but I'm sure we won more games from Charleroi than we lost during those early years. They were most successful seasons." . . . And with that report, we will close the matter. Unless, of course, some old-timer is able to supply the actual scores of Monessen games prior to 1918-1919.

Wants Golf Tourney Just for Oldtimers

By OSCAR FRALEY

CLEARWATER, Fla., (UP) — Stocky and cocky Gene Sarazen today challenged the U.S. Golf Assn. to "forget the cash register" and start a U.S. Seniors Open golf championship for men 50 and over.

"The USGA probably doesn't think there is enough cash register for such an event," Sarazen said. "But we have proved it can be a financial success with our PGA Seniors Open at Dunedin."

There is ample evidence, too, that the seniors can play the kind of golf that will draw the galleries.

Set Course Record

Because in the recently concluded PGA event, Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich., was six under par for the 72 holes he needed to finally emerge the winner in a well-attended playoff against Bob Stupple of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and the 54 - year - old Sarazen whacked out a course record 65 in the opening round.

But the squat member of golf's Hall of Fame pushed his own exploits behind him as he dared the USGA to start a U.S. Seniors Open.

"Such a tournament is needed desperately," he insisted. "Remember, people are living longer all the time. Then, too, they would take into consideration the fact that the biggest names in Golf—such as Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret and others like them—are crowding the 50 mark and soon will be eligible for such a senior event."

Difficult To Win

And these great golfers, Sarazen argued, would find it more difficult to win such a senior event than they would in winning the U.S. Open, the British Open or the PGA championships.

"Look at it this way," said the stocky squire who has won them all. "When you're in your 20's and you play in something like the Open you can look forward to 20 more years of hope in that tournament. But when you're 50, you have got to win the Seniors quickly or some of the fellows who never had a chance at tournament golf finally have the time and they'll knock your brains out."

He isn't kidding about his hopes for a U.S. Senior Open. And the USGA brass hats, most of them on the senior side themselves, certainly should give it consideration. For a lot of golfers, the new slogan would become "Life Begins At 50."

Machen Rated Number Two Contender Now

NEW YORK, (UP) — Eddie Machen, fast-rising kayo specialist from Redding, Calif., was rated the No. 2 contender for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight tite today in the monthy rankings of Ring Magazine.

Machen, who scored his 20th straight victory when he outpointed ex - l i g h t heavyweight champion Joey Maxim last Friday night, was ranked immediately behind New York's Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson. Machen was rated the No. 5 heavyweight contender in Ring's December rankings.

Archie Moore Drops

In the reshuffling of the heavyweight contenders, Ring elevated Harold Carter of Linden, N.J., to the No. 3 spot and dropped light heavyweight King Archie Moore of San Diego, Calif., to No. 4. Willie Pastrano of New Orleans, La., is fifth and Bob Satterfield of Chicago is sixth.

Yolande Pompey of Trinidad rose to the No. 2 spot in the light-heavyweight ratings on the basis of his second-round knockout of European champion G e r h a r d Hecht of Germany, who dropped to fourth. Chuck Spieser of Lansing, Mich., remained the No. 1 contender and Tony Anthony of New York was ranked third.

Ray Robinson, who lost the middleweight title to Gene Fullmer on Jan. 2, was ranked the No. 1 contender in that division followed by Charey Humez of France, Ralph Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., and Ellsworth (Spider) Webb of Chicago.

Ortega Moves Up

In the welterweight division, Gaspar Ortega of Mexico took over the second spot behind champion Carmen Basilio and Chief contender Johnny Saxton. Tony DeMarco dropped to third and Isaac Logart was rated fourth.

S a n d y Saddler's retirement, brought about by failing eyesight, left the featherweight championship vacant. France's Cherif Hamla was ranked No. 1 contender followed by Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico and Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn, N.Y. Berrios and Costa meet March 22 in the first of a series of elimination bouts to determine Saddler's successor.

Charleroi Tramples Washington, 80-57

Charleroi High's brilliant basketballers swamped Washington, 80-57, last night at the Cougars floor.

The exhibition win was Charleroi's 16th in 17 starts this season.

The home team never trailed, thanks to 50 per cent gunning on field goal attempts.

James (Beanie) Gordon, Washington's brilliant 5-10 forward, tried to keep his team in the game by scoring 22 points.

However Charleroi got g r e a t efforts from Ollie Payne, w h o scored 21; Myron Pottios and Bob Boda who had 16 each and Carl Witmyer checked in with 11.

Charleroi made 28 of 57 field goal attempts, while the visitors hit on just 16 of 56 tries.

Lineups follow:

Greensburg Tops Hempfield High

By UNITED PRESS

Greensburg defeated Hempfield, 64-38, in one of two WPIAL Class A games played Tuesday night and moved back into a three-way tie for first place in Section 2.

In the other game, also a Section 2 contest, Connellsville walloped North Huntingdon, 74-37.

Greensburg's victory gave it a 6-1 record. For Hempfield the loss was its fifth against two victories and knocked out any chance of the school ending its first season in competitive basketball in the first division of Section 2. Tied for the section lead with Greensburg are Jeannette and Uniontown.

The result of the other game left Connellsville with a 3-4 record and North Huntingdon with a record of 1-6.

The games ended the first half of section play.

Marion May Get Into Basketball

NEW YORK (UP)—Marty Marion, "bitten by the basketball bug" after 20 years in baseball, left for Louisville with a business associate today to explore the possibilities of obtaining a National Basketball Assn. franchise in that city.

Marion and his business partner, Milton Fischmann of St. Louis, conferred with NBA President Maurice Podoloff here Tuesday night and were told by him that their "prospects are very good" for securing a franchise.

Marion, the one-time "Mr. Shortstop" who later managed the St. Louis Cardinals, St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox, and Fischmann also plan to determine the possibility of acquiring a franchise in Chicago, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Cleveland or Pittsburgh.

Young Hockey Player Too Good

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Jan. 30 (UP)—Timmy Haines, the 12-year old shotmaker from Georgetown who scored 30 goals and 10 assists in nine games this year, will be sidelined from hockey for the rest of the season because he's too good for his league, and his parents won't let him play against older and bigger boys. Young Haines was promoted to a league made up of older boys by the local Canadian Legion officials, but Mr. and Mrs. Roland Haines intervened.

Shaw to Return Next Grid Season

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—George Shaw, the Baltimore Colts' prized quarterback who it was feared would be lost to the team next season, leaves for a six - month tour of duty with the infantry at Ft. Benning, Ga., next week, and will be released in time to participate in the 1957 National Football League campaign. Shaw says he may "miss an exhibition game or two, but that's all."

Munhall Protests Duquesne High Basketball Win

Munhall High officials have filed a formal protest with the WPIAL over Friday's 56-53 overtime basketball loss at Duquesne.

Mark W. Wherry, principal of Munhall High confirmed today that he has notified WPIAL secretary Dwight H. Conner of the action.

The protest centers around a technical foul awarded the Dukes by Referee Ward Murphy with a minute and 56 seconds to play in the fourth quarter of the g a m e. Murphy called the foul when he was pushed by a fan. Duquesne's Bill Soffa converted to give the Dukes a 51-50 lead.

The Munhall protest stated that "a technical foul was called in error." The school contends that a visiting team should never be penalized for the conduct of fans because "the home team is responsible for the behavior of the crowd."

Fan or Player?

It was first reported that the "fan" was a member of the Munhall Junior Varsity team and came off the Indians bench to s h o v e Murphy. Munhall officials deny this, stating that the spectator was an 18 year old boy who had no connection with the team.

At Duquesne, officials pointed out that four policemen are on hand for every game. They insisted that the "fan" came off of the bench reserved for the Munhall varsity and junior varsity players.

"He had to go into the Munhall locker room for his jacket before police could eject him from the gym," a Duquesne official contended.

The win gave Duquesne possession of second place in Section standings, just a game behind McKeesport. Munhall is now third, three games off the pace.

Central Catholic Trips Donora

Leps Rally to Earn 51-49 Decision in Exhibition Action

Rostraver High's basketballers rallied in the second half to turn back a spunky West Newton, quint, 51-49, last night.

The exhibition victory avenged an earlier 57-54 loss suffered by the Leps at West Newton.

The success was hard-ear n e d though. The visitors led 27-18 at half-time.

Rostraver slashed the lead in the third period, outscoring their hosts, 16-9. The Leps eventually pulled in front late in the game.

Share Scoring

Three players shared most of the Rostraver scoring. Richard Cloherty flipped in 13 points, Reginald Haten had 11 and Rich Sonafelt contributed ten.

For West Newton, Johnson was top man with 23 points. Gene Letterio chipped in with ten.

The Rostraver Jayvees also won, nipping the visitors, 42-40.

Dodgers Hire Famous Clown

BROOKLYN (UP) — Dodger Manager Walt Alston isn't much for clowning around but he'll simply have to bear it and grin at Ebbets Field this year.

Alston wasn't given much choice when the Dodgers Monday hired a real honest - to-goodness clown, 58-year-old Emmett Kelly, former star of Ringling Brothers' Circus, to enliven proceedings at Brooklyn's home games this season.

Dodger owner Walter O'Malley said Kelly was hired to "relieve the tension at Ebbets Field."

BOWLING

By JOE JANNOTTA

In columns this week, we are summarizing the tips we consider most important for successful bowling.

Here is some especially important advice:

1. The bowler must use his natural speed. This may vary a little, depending on alley conditions. But for the most part, don't get fancy with your speed.

2. Always stay behind the foul line. This applies to both practice and league play. If you violated the foul line during practice, you are liable to form a habit.

Watch Mistakes

3. A bowler intent upon improving his game should never make the same mistake three times in succession. Watch the action of your ball closely, then profit by your observation. When making adjustments on your delivery, do so conservatively.

4. Do not try to improve your entire game during a practice session. Work on one (or two at the most) defects during a practice. If you try to cover too much ground, you won't accomplish anything at all.

Koawl Sweeps In Ladies Bowling

Koawl blanked Kerr in St John's Ladies League bowling last night In another match, Costella took a pair from the Dackos.

Scoring leaders were Julia Dacko, 156-363; Helen Costella, 126-344; Olga Yetsconich, 138-303, Anna Mae Kerr, 95-264.

Standings show Costella, 11-4; Dacko, 8-7; Kerry, 6-9; and Koawl, 5-10

Amps, Volts in Double Wins

Amps won two games from the Ohms and Volts took a pair from the Watts in Blooming Mill Electric League bowling.

Scoring leaders were Patsy Spadafore, 193-506; Andy Drahobecky, 118-459; Phil Faraci, 209-454; Santo Bernardo, 164-452, Earl Marshall, 172-441; Ray Calderone, 171-437.

Standings show Volts, 8-4; Ohms, 7-5; Watts, 5-7; and Amps, 4-8.

Aces, Rangers in Bowling Wins

Aces won two games from the Dolls and Rangers earned a pair from the Jokers in DIC bowling last night.

Top scorers were Macky Goff, 102-263; Velma Frezzell, 96-218; Gladys Davis, 76-209, Cleo Bronson, 75-196.

Standings show Aces, 9-4, Jokers, 6-7; Rangers, 7-6; Dolls, 4-9.

Close Scores in Slovak League

Holy Name won two games from Ladies Auxiliary and Slovak Home took a pair from Christian Mothers in Slovak Ladies League bowling last night.

Scoring leaders were Margaret Yanachik, 123-361; Mary Hardon, 140-348; Virginia Uyschek, 125-331; Helen Kilvady, 122-325; Marie Timcoe, 128-330; Betty Chomko, 134-318

Standings show Holy Name, 9-3; Slovak Home, 6-6; Ladies Auxiliary, 5-7; and Christian Mothers, 4-8.

'Also Rans' Take Over City League

The "also rans" will take over the City Basketball League spotlight again tonight.

The last time the second division boys hogged the scene, they staged three thrilling games.

So tonight's card looks interesting even though the front-running Cro-Ams and second place Viaduct cagers will look on as spectators.

Tonight's schedule will match the Cips against Yellow Jackets at 7; Fuocos against Ozarks at 8 and S-L against Big Five at 9.

For Big Five and the Ozarks, this evening's tussles are most important.

Big Five Third

Big Five, currently third in the league standings, needs the win to protect its playoff ambitions.

The Ozarks, tied for fourth, must win against the in-and-out Fuocos to remain in the top division.

Three City League games are scheduled tomorrow, too.

Fuocos will meet the Yellow Jackets at 7; Cro-Ams will take on Big Five at 8 and Ozarks will tackle with East End at 9.

League standings follow:

City League Standings

Standings

TEAM	W.	L.	Pct.
Cro-Ams	14	0	1.000
Viaduct	12	3	.800
Big Five	9	4	.692
Ozarks	7	7	.500
East End	7	7	.500
Fuocos A. C.	6	8	.429
S-L	5	8	.385
Y. Jackets	2	11	.154
Cips	1	14	.067

Constitution for New Conference To Be Considered

A steering committee appointed to organize a football conference of district Class A schools will ask for final approval next Wednesday during a meeting at the Brownsville Telegraph Office.

Raymond Barker, Bellmar principal and chairman of the steering committee, said that copies of a proposed constitution have been mailed to all schools expressing interest in the conference.

Barker said that the schools will be asked to approve or reject the constitution next Wednesday.

The proposed league, if formally organized, will be known as the Tri-County Football Conference.

The following schools have been mailed copies of the constitution: California, Chartiers, Burgettstown, North Union, Scottdale, South Union, Carmichaels, German Twp. Bellmar, Dunbar, East Beth Joint, Pt. Marion-Masontown, Waynesburg and Jefferson.

Under the constitution they have been grouped into two sections.

The steering committee has devoted almost two full days to drawing up the constitution. Prior to that a long series of meetings produced little action, but a great deal of generalized discussion.

Seton Hill in Bowling Sweep

Seton Hill blanked Rosemont in Ladies League bowling last night.

In other matches, Villa Maria won two games from Bryn Mawr, Wellesly earned two from Monte Cassino; Wheaton bested Sweetbriar twice; Ladycliff captured two from Vassar and Mt Mercy copped two from Cedar Crest.

Scoring leaders were Tootsie Cieply, 129-356; Betty Kunsa, 134-345. Juliet Monack, 145-367; Sara Pascotu, 141-344; Mary Santoro, 117-335; Marge Opalinski, 156-416; Jay Nicksich, 143-348; Eva Bellora, 134-372. Betty Malinchak, 163-434; Carrie Palm, 141-395; Lee Kolvek, 177-493; Connie Magatz, 124-338; Norma Fayer, 150-368.

Paulettes Sweep In Ladies Loop

Paulettes blanked the Babettes and Bendettes took a pair from the Gerrettes in Croatian Ladies League bowling last night.

Top scorers were Vilma Gagatko, 168-404; Frances Gagatko, 168-384; Jane Popovich, 132-355; Helen Bender, 137-342; Elizabeth Beres, 127-334

Standings show Gerrettes, 8-4; Babettes, 6-6; Bendettes, 5-7; Paulettes, 5-7.

Bethany Defeats Thiel, 89 to 64

GREENVILLE, Pa. (UP)— The Bethany (W. Va.) Bisons led from the start Tuesday night to defeat easily the Thiel Tomcats, 88-64.

It was Bethany's seventh victory against six losses and the fourth defeat for Thiel, which has won three.

Rudy Yaksich with 26 and Ed Johnson with 21 topped the Bethany scoring. Bob Heissenbottel had 23 for Thiel and Ed Barney 14.

Lane Favored Against Ryff

NORFOLK, Va., (UP) — Kenny Lane, the No. 2 lightweight contender, ruled an 8-5 favorite to gain his 11th straight victory tonight in his nationally-televised and broadcast return bout against blond Frankie Ryff of New York.

Lane whipped Ryff once on a unanimous decision in Miami last November, a defeat that knocked fancy-boxing Frankie right out of the 135-pound class rankings.

Ryff, who cuts easily and lacks punching power, is burning for a revenge triumph that would restore him to the charmed circle of contenders for the crown now worn by Joe Brown of New Orleans.

Lane hasn't been beaten since he dropped a 10-round decision to former lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco in 1955.

A sellout crowd of 3,600 is assured for the fight, with the Norfolk March of Dimes Fund scheduled to share in the proceeds.

Steelers Leave For NFL Meeting

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Seven Pittsburgh Steelers officials leave by plane today for the annual National Football League meeting in Philadelphia.

Art Rooney, club president, who is at his Shamrock Stables thoroughbred farm in Maryland, will join the party tonight.

The meeting's main order of business is completion of the player draft.

St. Louis, Wake Forest Score Impressive Wins

By UNITED PRESS

St. Louis and Wake Forest, two mighty good teams that have been forced to play "second fiddle" so far in their own leagues, launched twin drives today for a bigger share of basketball glory.

The St. Louis Billikens, ranked 16th nationally but overshadowed in the Missouri Valley Conference by 11th-ranked Bradley, racked up an important 49-45 victory over the Oklahoma Aggies Tuesday night at Stillwater, Okla., to shove their season record to an excellent 12-5.

Wake Forest, ranked 14th nationally but faced with the tough task of beating top-ranked North Carolina, notched an impressive 77-59 victory over Duke at Winston-Salem, N.C., to make its record 13-3.

These victories over high-ranked foes stole the spotlight Tuesday night from Louisville, the nation's No. 6 team, which walloped Loyola of the South, 79-53, for its ninth straight victory and also a 13-3 record.

Move Into Tie

The St. Louis victory moved the Billikens into a second-place tie with Wichita in the Missouri Valley league at 5-1, only one game behind Bradley. And St. Louis and Bradley still are scheduled to meet twice next month, on Feb. 13 and 23.

Oklahoma A & M, ranked 20th, rallied from a 15-point deficit with five minutes left. Then they battled on even terms, point for point, until Roy Carberry of the Aggies scored at the end to cut the final margin to four points. Jack Mimlitz and Harold Alcorn had 12 points each for St. Louis, but 6-6 Henry Kemple had 13 for the Aggies.

Duke, ranked 19th but minus the services of ace Bucky Allen who was injured, trailed almost all the way against Wake Forest. Jim Billey had 21 points and Jack Williams 16 for Wake Forest and Bob Vernon tallied 16 for Duke.

Louisville was held to a 29-28 halftime lead by Loyola, but scored 17 points at the start of the second half before Loyola hit a basket to blow the game wide open. Six-eight Charley Tyra of Louisville took scoring honors with 24 points.

Irish Triumph

In other leading games last night: John McCarthy scored 35 points and Tom Hawkins 30 to lead Notre Dame to a 94-82 victory over Indiana as Archie Dees led the losers with 24; North Carolina State romped to an 88-63 win over Virginia in the Atlantic Coast Conference despite 19 points by Virginia's Bob Hardy;

Oklahoma City trounced New Mexico, 107-86, as Lindon Lee scored 29, Hubert Reed 26, and Leon Griffin 25; Arkansas nipped Texas Christian, 62-58, in the Southwest Conference; New Mexico A&M downed Arizona (Tempe) St., 95-80; St. Francis of Brooklyn edged American International, 71-69; and Furman beat Wofford, 89-74, in the Southern Conference

North Carolina ends its mid-year exam "vacation" tonight and seeks to extend its perfect record to 16-0 against little Western Carolina. Kentucky, the nation's No. 3 team, can gain undisputed possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference by beating Georgia in another feature.

Powers, Majias Sign Buc Pacts

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates said today rookie first baseman Johnny Powers and outfielder Roman Majias have returned signed contracts for the 1957 season. The club now has 33 of 41 players on the spring roster under contract.

Powers, an outfielder last year with New Orleans of the Southern Association, will be given "every opportunity" to make the grade as Pittsburgh's regular first baseman. He hit .312 for the Pelicans in 1956 and led the league with 39 homers, which also was a club decord. His home is in Birmingham, Ala.

Mejias was given a trial with the Pirates in 1955, but spent the entire 1956 campaign with Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League, where he posted a .274 batting average.

Pirate General Manager Joe L Brown, recently returned from a tour of the winter league, labeled Mejias, the "most improved" player he had seen.

Pirates Sign Pitching Hopeful

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the signing of John A. Lamabe, a 20-year-old righthander touted as the most outstanding young pitching prospect in the East.

Lamabe, a resident of Farmingdale, N.Y., originally had been signed by the Philadelphia Phillies but was declared a free agent by Commissioner Ford Frick because of a technical violation of the old major league-college rule. He was signed to a Philadelphia contract on completion of his sophomore year at the University of Vermont.

With Philadelphia's Wilson, N.C., farm club last season, Lamabe appeared in 14 games, posted a 3-7 mark and an earned run average of 2.75 for 85 innings.

Pirate officials said Lamabe was signed to a "non-bonus" contract. He will report to the Pirate spring training camp at Ft. Myers, Fla., Feb. 28.

Invite Track Team from U. S.

NEW YORK (UP)—The United States has been invited to send a six-man track and field team to compete in Europe in June and according to Dan Ferris, secretary - treasurer of the National AAU, the team will be picked on the basis of performances in the American indoor championships in Madison Square Garden, Feb. 23.

Stan Musial Signs 1957 Contract For Estimated $80,000 Pay Check

By UNITED PRESS

Stan (The Man) Musial was still the highest paid player in the National League today and just as determined to prove he is the league's best batter.

Musial signed his 1957 contract late Tuesday for a reported $80,000, the same figure he got last year although his batting average dropped nine points to .310 from 1955. He was the last of the 42 players on the St. Louis Cardinals winter roster to sign.

Musial, who holds the highest lifetime slugging record of .578 and more miscellaneous records than any other player in the league, said he is sure. "the way I feel right now," he will capture the circuit's batting title for the seventh time this year.

Three NL Clubs Active

Three other National League clubs, the Chicago Cubs, Philadelphia Phillies, and Pittsburgh Pirates, also were active in the contract department today.

In the American League, the Detroit Tigers completed signing their regulars when right fielder Al Kaline came to terms on the second attempt at a reported $30.000.

Kaline signed after a Tuesday night meeting with General Manager Spike Briggs and Johnny McHale, director of player personnel.

"I got a very good increase," said the 22-year-old Tiger star who is one of the few players to make the big hop from high school sandlots to a starting position with a major league team.

High Priced Bengal

Although the Tigers do not disclose contract prices, Kuenn reportedly is the highest-paid Bengal.

The Cubs ran their total of players signed to 21 with pacts from third baseman Ray Jablonski, who was obtained during the winter from Cincinnati after hitting 256 for the Redlegs, and pitchers Don Kaiser (4-9) and Dale Stenhouse a rookie who led the Class C Evangeline League last year with a 16-4 record.

The Phillies also signed three for a total of 13 — first baseman Marv Blaylock, who hit 254; and outfielders Bob Bowman, who hit 278 for Miami of the International League, and Jim Davis, who batted .304 for Schenectady of the Eastern League.

Sign Free Agent

The Pirates signed "one that got away" from the Phillies—John A. Lamabe, 20-year-old pitcher from Farmingdale, N.Y., who was declared a free agent by Commissioner Ford Frick on a violation of the old major league-college rule after compiling a 2.87 earned run average for the Phillies' Wilson, N.C., farm team. contract.

Pittsburgh also obtained contracts for outfielder Johnny Powers, who hit .312 with 39 homers for New Orleans and will be given a trial at first base, and outfielder Ramon Mejias, who hit .274 for Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

Penn State to Use Sophomores

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa (UP)—Penn State basketball coach John Egli said today he will look to his bench for more help in the second half of the season.

Egli said he is convinced his squad has run out of steam and needs more help from the bench.

"In our first 13 games" he said, "we seldom used more than six or seven men. Actually, five men bore the brunt."

Egli said he would call on sophomores Tom Hancock, Johnstown, Dick Schwendema, Charleroi, and Ted Kubista, of Scotch Plains, N J., for support in future games.

The first reformatory in the United States was established in New York in 1824.

A NEW DESIGN OF CLASSIC GRACE . . . CONTEMPORY, SOFTLY CURVED AND ENHANCED BY THE COOL ELEGANCE OF MARBLE

Imported Travertine marble is treasured for the rhythmic flow of its rich beige-to-brown markings and the lovely patina it takes when polished . . . and these deep-toned mahogany pieces are fitted with polished Travertine marble tops. The result is a quiet elegance that raises the design to classic status. The softly curved pieces are accented with the starlight sparkle of brushed nickel and the contrast of imported natural cane. Detailing includes solid mahogany serpentine drawer fronts, reversible cane-or-mahogany sliding doors and snow white plastic-lined drawers. Travertine knows no decorative limits, it's quietly beautiful in either modern or traditional settings. For your bedroom, your dining room, and for occasional tables, choose the lasting loveliness of Travertine.

Steel Mills Building Their Own Inventories

CLEVELAND (UP)—The nation's steel mills are building finished materials due to a decline in steel demand, according to Steel Magazine.

The metalworking publication said the inventories of such materials as billets at bar mills and slabs at sheet mills enables the steel producers to roll finished products without first having to make steel in the furnace, and then teem it into ingots.

The inventories put mills in a position to give customers quick delivery, the magazine said.

Steel production dropped one point last week to 97.5 per cent of capacity, yielding 2,496,503 net tons.

"With the easing of the steel supply, more and more customers are climbing into the driver's seat, a spot they have longed for," the magazine noted.

"Automakers particularly are insisting that steel must arrive on specified dates. The ease in supply comes not so much from cancellations or deferments of orders as from a reduced rate of ordering."

Consumers feel they can do without large steel inventories because the largest steel user—the auto industry—is going along at only moderate speed, and the three-year labor contract in the steel industry promises a respite from a strike this year, according to the publication.

Joy Firm Has High Earnings

PITTSBURGH (UP) —Joy Manufacturing Co. today reported earnings of $3,026,109 or $1 69 a share for its first fiscal quarter ended Dec. 31, compared with $2,271,298 or $1.27 in the same period last year.

Sales showed a 28 per cent rise from a year ago. They totaled $31,785,196 in the past quarter against $24,863,272 last year.

John Lawrence, president said the company's backlog stood at a record high at the close of the period and that stockholders have approved doubling common shares outstanding. This brings authorized common to 6-million shares.

He said Joy had no immediate plans for the issuance of the additional stock. Lawrence added that stockholders have approved a restricted stock option plan for key employees.

Senate to Probe Food Marketing Costs, Profits

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee is investigating food marketing costs and profits to find out "who gets how much" of the consumer's food dollar.

Agriculture Department figures show that 60 cents of the consumer's dollar went for marketing costs last year, compared to 53 cents in 1950. The farmer's share dropped from 47 to 40 cents over the same period, according to department records.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) chairman of the Senate committee, said he ordered the study to "get the facts and to see whether we can increase the farmer's share." If the trend of rising marketing costs continues, he said, "something may have to be done."

$18 Million for School Building

WASHINGTON (UP) — Pennsylvania would receive $18,803,000 during the first year of the school construction program recommended to Congress Monday by President Eisenhower

The proposed federal allocation would be conditioned upon $22,898,000 in state and local funds being made available.

The Federal grant for the first year of the program would amount to $8 12 per student.

Forty Hours of Devotion Will Start Sunday

A solemn high mass will be celebrated at St. Sebastian R. C. Church next Sunday morning at 10:45 to begin the Forty Hours of Devotion. All the children of the school and all the altar boys will take part in the procession. The Blessed Sacrament will remain exposed until the conclusion of the observance.

In preparation for Forty Hours, confession will be heard on Saturday from 3 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. The confessions of the children will be heard during the morning education classes.

Also in preparation for the observance there will be a rehearsal of the choir at 7.30 this evening to prepare the music for the mass and for the opening and closing of the Forty Hours.

Since next Sunday is also the Feast of St. Blase, throats will be blessed after every mass but the 10:30 solemn service. At 3 p. m. there will be blessing for mothers and children of pre-school age

Nazarene Church Class Elects Officers Here

The Whosoever Class of the Belle Vernon Church of the Nazarene met at the home of Mrs. Elsie Tintori for the January session.

The scripture was read by Mrs. Maude Roberts and prayer was asked by Mrs. Mildred Waiton. Chorus singing was led by Mrs. Pansy Keleman and each member gave a Bible verse. Mrs. Keleman, Emma and June Greenwood sang "Cleanse Me" to conclude the devotions.

Election of officers was held and Mrs. Kelemen was elected president, Mrs. Mercy Green, vice president; Emma Greenwood, secretary; Mrs. Elsie Tintori, treasurer; Mrs. Elsie Howarth, flower fund treasurer; Mrs. Emily Tylosky, class attendance treasurer and Mrs. Eva Bednar, news reporter.

Games were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Emily Tylosky and Mrs. Bednar.

Mrs. Tintori served a spaghetti supper after the meeting assisted by her daughters, Jean and Lorraine Tintori.

Chests Expanding

NEW YORK (UP)—American women are busting out of their raincoats, the Almar Manufacturing Co. reported today. The company said it had increased the frontal expansion of its medium size raincoats to 40 inches to rectify the situation. Its surveys show the average American woman's chest measurement is an inch and a half larger than in 1947.

Press to Receive Added Protection

HARRISBURG (UP)—The working press would receive a degree of added protection from the law under a bill introduced in the state Senate.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Benjamin R. Donolow (D-Philadelphia), would impose a fine of $2,000 and-or imprisonment of up to three years for conviction o assault on "the person or apparatus of any news reporter or news photographer" while he is in the pursuit of news in any public place.

Dependents Many, Varied Under Existing Tax Laws

(Third in a series)

By RUSSELL C. HARRINGTON
Commissioner of Internal Revenue

WASHINGTON (UP).— You are a $600 exemption, which means you do not have to pay federal income tax on $600 of your income. Your wife is another, on your return if you file jointly, on her own if you file separately, but not on both.

Beyond this basic exemption for the taxpayer, we get into a number of questions covering such things as support of elderly relatives, school age children who earn money, divorced couples, survivors of persons who have died, and extra exemptions for the aged and blind.

Each taxpayer gets an extra $600 exemption if he is 65 or older, and still another $600 if he is blind. The $600 extra exemption for blindness can be claimed by the taxpayer at any age. The exemption for blindness applies only to the taxpayer, husband or wife or both, but not to dependents.

The Internal Revenue Service perhaps rates you older than you think you are, by one day, and it may be worth money to you. You are considered to add a year to your age on the day before your birthday. So, if your 65th birthday fell on or before Jan. 1, 1957, you may legally claim that extra $600 exemption for age in your return for 1956.

Exemption Types Differ

Exemptions for dependents are figured differently than for husband and wife. For example, a taxpayer who supports his 70-year-old mother is entitled to just one $600 exemption for her and nothing extra for her age.

For a person to qualify as taxpayer's dependent, the taxpayer must provide more than one-half of his or her support. The only exception to this rule is where several persons contribute to the support of an individual.

or example, if several sons and daughters support their mother, and none of them contributes more than half the support, they may designate one of their number to claim the $600 exemption for her as a dependent. The person designated must contribute more than ten per cent of the support, and all the others who contribute more than ten per cent must file a declaration that they will not claim the exemption. Such a declaration is made on Form 2120, available at any Revenue Service office.

The law permits a child under 19 or a full-time student of any age to be claimed as a dependent. The law defines a full-time student as one who is engaged in full-time study at a recognized school for at least five months of the year, or who is in one of several fulltime on - the - farm training programs.

When To Claim Child

A child may earn money, even more than $600, and still be claimed as a $600 exemption on his father's tax return. The deciding factors are that the child be under 19 or a full-time student, and that the taxpayer who claims him must contribute more than half his support.

However, if a child earns $600 or more he must file a return for himself. He may claim his own personal exemption on his own return. This means he actually qualifies as two exemptions, if someone else is footing more than half his living expenses: one exemption on his own return and one of the return of the supporter.

If a child earns less than $600 and his employer withholds taxes from his pay, then the child is entitled to a refund of those taxes. Like everyone else, he must file a return to get that refund.

The law provides special tax rates for any individual who qualifies as "head of household." This term means generally an unmarried or legally separate person who furnished more than half the maintenance cost of a household which was also home during the entire year for (A) any related person who qualifies as the taxpayer's dependent or (B) your unmarried child, grandchild or stepchild, even thought that child is not a dependent. You may also qualify as a head of household if you maintain a home elsewhere for your father or mother and either one of them qualifies as your dependent.

The cost of maintaining a household includes such items as the rent, insurance, repairs, utilities, food. It does not include clothing, education, medical expenses and the like, even though you may pay them.

Form 1040 must be used to claim the benefits of the lower tax rates for a head of household.

If you are divorced or legally separated from your wife at the end of the year, you may not claim her as an exemption, even if you paid her support.

When a question of dependency comes up, remember that the dependent must meet five tests. First, you must have furnished more than half of his or her support. Second, the dependent's gross incomes must have been less than $600 for the year (unless the dependent is your child who is under 19 or a full-time student). Third, the dependent must be related to you, or a member of your household and living in your home. Fourth, the dependent must be a citizen of the United States (living anywhere) or a citizen of any country living in Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone. And fifth, the dependent must not be making a joint return with his or her husband or wife.

Stalinists Are Gaining Support In Hungary

VIENNA (UP)—The Hungarian Communist Party is preparing for the return to grace of the dichard Stalinists purged after the October revolution, reports from Budapest indicated today.

The party newspaper Nep Szabadsag today printed a "demand" by activist of the Szolnok (eastern Hungary) Party organization calling for a review of the expulsions.

Many followers of Stalinist Matyas Rakosi, former party boss, were expelled last November in the desperate attempt by Janos Kadar to appease the still-rebellious Hungarian people.

"Old potato head," as Rakosi was known, resigned as party leader during the summer in the de-Stalinization campaign which swept over the satellites in the wake of Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev's denunciation of Josef Stain.

The Szolnok activists, Communist terminology for active party agitators, demanded all expulsions should be re-examined and each case considered on an individual basis.
